

Quiet optimism pervades Rare Earth effort

Development permit the last hurdle in the way of further testing

by Joe Banks

Below our feet, a concrete slab reflects sunlight. Rusting iron bolts jut from weathered beams surrounding the massive plate. Barbed wire hangs limp around the perimeter of the silent raise, and the scene bears a resemblance to a gravemarking, a monument to something once vital, now long dead.

The cement slab was, of sorts, a gravestone. It marked, or covered, a squared-off hole that descends 50 feet into the earth. At one time, this raise was part of the once busy Halo mine site, a place where until 1956, men hauled thousands of tons of raw stone from a black hole in the earth. They sought uranium.

Late in 1956 the market for uranium died. When experimental nuclear reactors for which the ore was needed reduced their demand, the mine closed. Concrete slabs were placed over the raises, and the mine entrances were sealed to the outside world for an indefinite period of time.

If George Jeffs and the planners behind Rare Earth Resources have their way, however, the concrete slabs will be removed, and the shafts will once again see the light of day.

Jeffs, field supervisor for the company, is helping Rare Earth determine the viability of reopening the ghost mine not only at the Halo site, but also at the Rare Earth properties in Monmouth Township and the Catchacoma Lake site in Cavendish. The company so far has gone to a great deal of expense to investigate the possibility of extracting uranium from existing sites, a project they hope will see small to medium scale uranium production come alive again.

At the Halo property, where the wind makes the only audible sounds, the key word is not resurrection, but uncertainty. Jeffs, who calls himself a prospector, is optimistic about the sites. Looking at the massive ore piles surrounding the raise, he mentions in passing, how interest in these properties was suddenly renewed, what the company has done, and most importantly, what it plans to do. But he is careful to stress that, though work in the office and in the field is ambitious, there is an ever-present degree of the unknown.

Much of the Rare Earth interest is dependant upon old information, mining statistics and reports dating back almost 25 years. There are a lot of blank spots in those records. Information essential to reduce the risk of starting the project blindly is lacking.

"We're hoping to fill in those blank spots," said Jeffs, "by overlapping the old work with some new investigation we hope to do." That work can only be accomplished if the federal government grants a development permit, the first major hurdle to Rare Earth's hopes for success.

The company is presently directing efforts towards obtaining the permit. Company eyes, including Jeffs', are now rivetted on the government for permission to begin further tests, hopefully within the next two months. The permit will allow Rare Earth Resources to remove covers

Machinery will remain idle indefinitely

Minden road men are back on the job

Road workers in Anson, Hindon and Minden were back on the job Monday morning following a week long layoff.

The layoff went into effect September 26. At that time the maintenance portion of the municipality's road budget was some $40,000 over-spent.

Since that date, council has met with representatives of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications' Huntsville office in an attempt to work out a solution to the shortfall, which council claims is the result of inadequate maintenance subsidies from the Ministry. So far there has been no firm indication whether or not the Ministry will provide an additional maintenance allotment to meet the municipality's requirements through the end of the year.

out, and culvert repairs, with road machinery remaining idle.

In an interview Monday, Reeve Sinc Nesbitt declined to comment on developments that led council to send the men back to work.

He indicated, however, that "in order to get the road system straightened around, and in order to get back to normal procedure...we're going to have to do a (roads) Needs Study."

There was no indication as to how soon such a study could be completed.

Echo office open Thanksgiving day

The office of the Haliburton County Echo will be open Thanksgiving Day, Monday, October 8 during normal business hours.

The office will also be open for normal hours Friday.

Our usual advertising deadline on Monday at 5 p.m. for both classified and display advertisements will apply next week.

Colours were at their peak throughout the Highlands last weekend as cool nights and shortened days changed summer into autumn.

There's nothing quite like a puppet show to tickle the funny-bone of youngsters, as these laughing faces prove. The merriment took place at the Dysart Library Saturday afternoon as the Deckhands Puppet Theatre brought some of the magic of puppetry to an audience of more than 30 children. When the show was over the youngsters had a chance to meet the puppeteers and puppets behind the scenes.

OMB reserves zoning by-law decision

The Ontario Municipal Board has reserved a decision on Ministry of Housing objections to a Stanhope Township zoning by-law.

At a hearing last Monday, the board considered eight objections to the by-law, numbered 78-23, which amends the township's comprehensive zoning by-law 77-15.

Only one of the eight objectors to appear at the hearing was the Ministry of Housing which presented arguments against a section of the by-law that would allow the construction of single family residences fronting on private roads.

The previous by-law 77-15, allowed the construction of permanent residential dwellings in shoreline areas serviced by private roads. It also allowed the conversion of seasonal residential dwellings in such areas to permanent residences.

The amending by-law 78-23 was drafted primarily to extend the same rights to individuals who might want to construct permanent residences in rural areas serviced only by private roads.

A decision on the Ministry of Housing's objection to the by-law is expected to be forwarded to the municipality within the next four weeks.

In the event that the Ministry's objection is upheld, the OMB is likely to approve the by-law save and except the section dealing with permanent residences on private roads.

Council would then have to make a decision on amending the by-law.

Scouting movement is hampered by lack of leaders for groups

Scout, Cub, Guide, Beaver and Brownie groups in Haliburton Village and surrounding communities are in need of leaders, spokesmen for the Haliburton County Group Committee said this week.

Interested persons should be willing to attend weekly meetings that last approximately one and a half hours, monthly Group Committee meetings and occasional section leadership planning sessions.

Some 22 Beavers, 46 Cubs and 11 Scouts are registered for the coming year in Haliburton Village.

Leaders are needed in all sections, and experience is not essential, although some background in Scouting would be helpful, the Group Committee says, especially at the Scout level.

Beaver leaders can be male or female, 14 years old and up, Cub leaders must be at least 18 years old, and can be male or female. Scout leaders must be male and at least 18 years old. All sections can register 15 and 16 year olds as leaders-in-training.

Teacher leave plan to apply across board, details not set

A committee has been formed to work out details of a leave plan won by secondary school teachers in contract negotiations with the Haliburton County Board of Education in June.

The plan allows teachers to receive three quarters or four fifths of their regular salary for three or four years, and to take the fourth or fifth year off with three quarters or four fifths salary. It is intended to partially offset the pressure of declining enrolment on teaching jobs within the board.

In the contract settlement reached in June, the board agreed to allow the leaves, but details were left to be resolved by a committee.

Elementary school teachers did not ask for a leave plan in contract negotiations with the board this year, but the

Doubling of gas prices won't stop cottagers

Close to 2/3 of 143 cottagers reached in an Experience '79 survey this summer said a doubling of gasoline prices would have no effect on the amount of time they spent at their cottages. Yet half of those surveyed said they would consider an alternate form of transportation to and from their cottages if one were available.

The findings are two among a total of 34 included in the survey completed in August by two students working under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce.

While the results were gathered from too small a sample to be considered valid statistical indicators, they document responses which are expected to be of interest to business associations in both Haliburton and Minden.

A total of 174 people were reached in the survey, 28 of whom were permanent residents and the other 146 of whom were cottagers.

Results of the survey were released this week by the Chamber of Commerce.

Of those surveyed, 59 percent said they would not like to live in the county year round. Main reasons cited were a lack of business and job opportunities here, harshness of the winters, a lack of entertainment facilities and an attachment to city life.

The majority of people surveyed said they took some or all of their holidays in the county, and 82 percent said their cottage was in use for all or most of July and August. Fall weekends were a close second to summer weekends as popular vacation times. Winters were third in popularity, and those who came told the interviewers that they "loved" the county in winter. Spring was found to be the least popular season for visiting the county.

Of the 146 cottagers reached in the survey, 25 percent were under 45 years of age, 50 percent were between 46 and 64 years of age, and 25 percent were over 65.

Among the 28 permanent residents surveyed, 10 per-

Cottager objections force OMB hearing

An Ontario Municipal Board hearing will convene on October 29 in Minden, to hear objections from the Minden Lake Ratepayers Association over a proposed subdivision on the lake.

Anson, Hindon and Minden council agreed last week to support Elmer Hodsoll, the owner of the property, in his endeavours to maintain the zoning on the subdivision as seasonal residential.

Representatives from the Association attended council four weeks ago to voice their objections to the zoning of the property. They indicated that a permanent residential zoning would be acceptable to the Association, but a seasonal would serve to increase water traffic on the lake, and create hazards for swimmers.

They told council that the Association felt that permanent residents would take "better care" of the lake.

The Association's original objection was to put a freeze on any further development work on the subdivision site, but council indicated that they could not stop the development, since it had already been approved by the Ministry of Housing. The only recourse the Association now has is an O.M.B. hearing.

The subdivision has already received a zoning change from permanent residential to seasonal, and that change received OMB approval in June. The Association was formed two weeks after the change was circulated to property owners in May.

Concentration was the order of the day as marksmen from across the county came to the range near Minden Sunday afternoon to compete in the Haliburton County Marksmen Club's Turkey Shoot. Results appear on page 6.

County council holds September meeting

Haliburton County Council at its September meeting, considered the following matters:

Accounts in the amount of $101,043.36 were approved for payment.

By-law 1076, a by-law for the purpose of regulating benefits for non-union employees of the Provisional County of Haliburton, was passed.

Council concurred with a resolution from the Town of Hawkesbury that the month of April be added to daylight saving time.

Resolutions supporting the Metropolitan Toronto Police force and the Ontario Provincial Police were passed. The resolutions noted that "certain criticisms of the actions and procedures" of both forces "are presently being voiced from various sources", and that council "believes such criticisms to be wholly unjustified, unwarranted and detrimental to the ability of the (forces) to effectively perform their duties and responsibilities in the public service."

Consultant John McDermott of Totten, Sims, Hubicki Associates Ltd., reviewed the progress of the development strategy since its commencement and outlined changes made following recommendations from some of the Ministries to which the document had been circulated by the Ministry of Housing.

Ministry of Housing representatives Shane Kennedy, Grant Morris and Roly Formica attended council and Grant Morris outlined problems which had been resolved.

He also described the document as an interim document for planning guidelines, and expressed the hope that each municipality would be visited to give assistance in implementing the strategy.

Following the presentation, council passed a resolution agreeing with the modifications dated September 7, 1979 presented by the Ministry of Housing, and the modifications respecting forestry as prepared by consultant John McDermott. The Burns subdivision is to be negotiated between the member municipality and the Ministry of Housing and agreements between the two will be accepted by county council. Council also endorsed the strategy to be submitted to the Minister of Housing for final approval.

Following comments by Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey, council passed a resolution calling on the Ministry of Housing "to consider under Section 35 (24) of the Planning Act, a clause that would allow zoning by-laws to come into effect, save and except the sections that are under objection. Many times the whole by-law is held up for two or three years over a few objections that are not even related to the intention of the by-law but cannot be satisfied without an OMB hearing" the resolution states. "This type of amendment would allow council to enforce the by-law legally."

Jane Selbie was appointed as second representative to the Children's Services Committee for the county.

Local CNIB campaign goal is set at $4,600

Ron Barr, Chairman of the Haliburton County Advisory Board to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, announced this week that the 1979 campaign objective for Haliburton County is $4,600.

This year's campaign puts special emphasis on the future of blind and visually impaired Canadians, underlining that "with your help, a future can be bright, even without sight."

CNIB offers adjustment to blindness courses, mobility and orientation training, rehabilitation programs, library services and a variety of support services for visually impaired blind people, Barr said. "CNIB is deeply involved in the well-being of over 32,000 blind and visually impaired men, women and children in Canada," Barr said. "We are also committed to the prevention of blindness for all Canadians. Good eye care habits, early diagnosis and proper treatment can often prevent or arrest loss of sight before it becomes serious."

Since 1979 is The International Year of the Child, CNIB is placing special emphasis on blind children and children who may lose sight as a result of disease or accidents.

Education, research and public awareness are all part of CNIB's continuing efforts to assist visually impaired Canadians and prevent needless blindness.

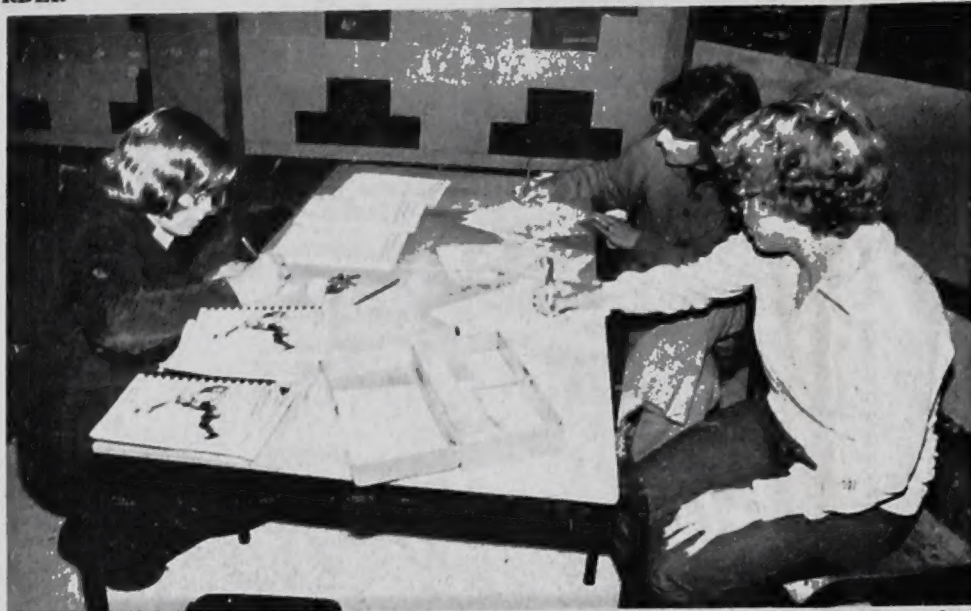

"To help ensure that every blind or visually impaired person gets the assistance he or she needs to take an active part in society and to achieve the brightest possible future, CNIB needs the continued financial and volunteer support of this community," Barr said.

Car catches fire

Damage was estimated at $1000 last Tuesday when a car caught fire.

Karlene Cooney, 26, of RR 1, Haliburton, was eastbound on County Road 6 in the West Guilford area when the engine of the '72 car she was driving caught fire.

Damage was confined to the engine compartment.

Barb Perrin, left, was one of a number of parents who registered their youngsters for minor hockey at the Dysart arena last Saturday. Looking after the registrations are Wanda Scott and Lois Whittaker.

Minden council meet

Anson, Hindon and Minden council, at a meeting last Wednesday, considered the following items of business:

A letter and financial report were received from Eleanor Hall. The clerk was directed to send a letter of appreciation for organizing the Minden swimming program.

H. C. Bishop attended council on behalf of Mr. Glover requesting that the forced road leading towards the lake and on the westerly portion of the Bissett Estates (Lot 13, Concession 11, Minden) property be closed and conveyed to the respective abutting property owners. Council agreed to do an on-site inspection of the proposal.

Phil Nicholls will be allowed a bonus of $400 in appreciation of the added responsibility which he incurred as the result of managing the arena while the manager was absent attending a training course.

Fraser Rogers attended council regarding the status of Block A, Plan 357 and to request council to consider conveying said block to the South Bob Lake Association for a reasonable fee, in view of the circumstances relative to an outstanding agreement to purchase.

Rogers also reviewed the conditions of the subdivision agreement between R. Windover and the municipality and advised that in his opinion, building permits could be issued for phase 1 of the plan subject to proper deeds being produced.

Colin Royce attended council to advise that more trees had been cut on his lot which abuts the park property and requested that replacement trees be planted as soon as possible.

Council decided to advise the tise for part time clerical assistance.

Mr. K. Hill attended council to explain a development proposal for property in Lot 27, Concession 4, Township of Minden. Council deferred the matter pending further investigation.

Council decided to engage John McDermott, senior planner with Totten, Sims, Hubicki Assoc. for the purpose of attending the Ontario Municipal Board hearing of By-law 79-13. Any costs involved will be borne by E. Hodson, the owner of the subject property. W. D. Russell was authorized to speak on behalf of the municipality.

The Minden Lake Property Owners' Association will be notified that E. Hodson is proceeding with the Ontario Municipal Board hearing of By-law 79-13 and council is supporting his application.

A letter from Mrs. J. Keberer requested permission to prepay the water frontage charges. Council agreed to permit the prepayment as she was in the process of purchasing the resort at the time the bill was being prepared.

Council decided it has no objection to M. Thomas dumping clean sand along the front of his property on the municipal road allowance in Lot 11, Concession 8, Township of Minden subject to the approval of the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment providing that a proper stone retaining wall be constructed and the area shall not protrude more than four feet from the normal high water mark.

Council authorized the reeve and clerk to execute an agreement with John Welch & Son (Minden) relative to piling excess snow.

Plan for the construction of a dock were reviewed by council and the members agreed to inspect the area for compliance with municipal policies.

Applications 24 and 25 for 1979, drawn pursuant to Section 636(a) of The Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1970, as amended, in the total amount of $24.36, were approved.

Severance application #H135/79 (Lot 13, Concession 13, Minden Township), was further amended by increasing the size of parcel two and decreasing the area of parcel three.

By-law 79-38, a by-law to rescind By-law 79-11, a by-law to stop up a portion of the Taylor Road to vehicular traffic only and not to pedestrian traffic, was passed.

By-law 79-39, a by-law to establish the Gull River Parkbelt as an approved park under the Parks Assistance Act, was also passed.

By-law 79-40, a by-law to rescind previous By-law 79-36 and to authorize the sale of land, was passed, as was By-law 79-41, a by-law to rescind previous By-law 79-35 and to authorize the sale of land.

By-law 79-42, a by-law to rescind previous By-law 79-34 and to authorize the sale of land, was also passed.

OPP report

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report the following activity for the period of September 24 through September 30.

During this period the staff investigated five reportable and one non-reportable motor vehicle accident, as well as some 103 general occurrences. Four breaks were reported, four compassionate message delivered, three persons charged with liquor violations and one person charged with impaired driving.

More stores needed: survey cent were under 45, 50 percent were between 46 and 64, and 40 percent were over 65.

Of those spending week-ends in the county, 82 percent said they would normally spend less than $75 here in a two or three day period, while 18 percent said they would spend between $76 and $150. Of those taking a week-long holiday here, 57 percent estimated they would spend between $50 and $100, while 43 percent said they would probably spend between $150 and $200.

Asked if they thought the new Haliburton Highlands logo was attractive, 41 percent of those surveyed said it was, while only 13 percent stated definitely that it was unattractive. The remaining people expressed no definite opinion, but the most commonly heard comment was that it needed more colour.

Under the heading of professional services, 60 percent of the cottagers said they had made use of medical and dental facilities here, and only two percent of those people had criticisms of the services.

Of the permanent residents, 82 percent had made use of the services, and only four percent were critical of them.

Not surprisingly, the survey team found that residents in Black, Twelve Mile, Moore, Gull and Little Boskung Lakes used Minden services, while those living in Haliburton, Kashagawigamog, Eagle and Sovers Lakes used Haliburton professional services.

Among permanent residents, the majority used services in the villages, but what the survey team termed "a significant number" went out of the area for insurance brokers, and 25 percent went out of the area for a hair stylist/barber.

The majority of both cottagers and permanent residents purchased hardware and building supplies primarily in the county. The second largest group of products purchased in the county by both groups were groceries, snowmobiles, boats and motors, and liquor and beer.

Among permanent residents who said they shopped outside the county, all cited price, convenience and variety as reasons for doing so.

Cottagers who shopped elsewhere also did so because of convenience as well as prices.

Both groups felt the most needed stores in the county were a Canadian Tire outlet, men's and ladies' clothing stores, as well as craft, fabric and bakery outlets.

Most people surveyed felt prices in the county were "reasonable", but some permanent residents said restaurant and clothing prices were too high.

Restaurant, gas station and store hours were generally said not to present a problem for either group, but the survey team heard some complaints from people who felt restaurants in Haliburton Village should be open later.

Almost everyone surveyed felt merchants' and store attendants' attitudes were "very good".

Road conditions were thought to be adequate in both summer and winter by all those surveyed.

Asked about restaurants, only four percent of the cottagers had criticisms, while none of the permanent residents surveyed rated them as poor.

Less than half the cottagers felt there was a need for more restaurants in the county, but two-thirds of the permanent residents said they would like to see more restaurants. Family and licensed dining lounges were most frequently cited as needed in the county.

Almost two-thirds of those interviewed found movies and licensed lounges in the county to be good, and the same percentage said they would not like to see more entertainment in the area.

The Haliburton County Echo was found to be the most widely read paper among both cottagers and permanent residents. The Minden Times ranked second the Echo among Cottagers, while the Highlands Express ranked second to the Echo among permanent residents.

A majority of both cottagers and permanent residents ranked the appearance of both Haliburton and Minden as "good", but some suggested improvements such as fixing store fronts and sidewalks, painting stores, cleaning up sidewalks and streets and making a central theme predominate in both villages.

Complete results of the survey are expected to be discussed at meetings of business association in both villages, as well as by the Chamber.

Property conveyed, subdivision to open

A subdivision in the Village of Minden overcame a final development hurdle at an Anson, Hindon and Minden council meeting last week.

Highland Gates Estates, 137-lot subdivision located beside the Gull River on Orde Street is now officially open for buyers who wish to build permanent homes on the lots. The development is the first phase of a proposed 111-lot subdivision.

Council discussed last Wednesday any delays and agreements reached between the township and Roy Windover, owner of the subdivision. All that remained in the way of the development was a conveyance of some property to the township, which was formally completed the following day.

Roads in the subdivision were completed last week, and will be maintained by the developers. According to owner Roy Windover, the subdivision is "raring and ready to go". Water and sewer facilities will be available, and all services, including snow plowing, will be paid for.

The subdivision will include access to the Gull River and docking facilities. Win-dover said the houses will be built according to "the personal likes" of the lot owners, and the subdivision's builders can build homes "to anyone's specifications".

So far, said Windover, "eight or nine" residents have bought lots on the development and are planning to build homes in the near future.

The remaining phases involved in the subdivision are expected to be carried out by 1993, when all 111-lots are expected to be completed.

The hearing was over in one afternoon, although a total of four half-day sessions were anticipated when a date for the hearing was first set.

No decision on the objections to the by-law was made by board chairman Dorothy McRobb at the conclusion of the hearing.

A decision is expected to be forwarded to Monmouth council within the next few weeks, according to clerk Sharon Hunter.

mum provincial standards for the Ontario Home Renewal Program as set out in the Ontario Home Renewal Program administration guide.

A further payment of $6,000 to Ken Alger Construction for the completion of Phase 111 of the contract with this company, was authorized.

Council also authorized the final payment to B & H Contracting in the amount of $2,433.30 completing the work as set out in his contract.

By-law 79-27 for the purpose of providing that a tennis court be established was passed.

Car door kicked, damage is $500

An incident last Friday night that resulted in damage to a parked car remains under investigation by Minden OPP.

Police say a car owned by Jerry Harrison of RR 2, Minden and driven by Lou-Ann English was the object of vandalism in the parking lot of the Dysart arena.

English was attending a banquet at the Haliburton Legion and returned to the car to find that the paint had been scratched and the left door kicked.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $500.

Work has started on the new Skyline Automotive Supply shop located beside the Brewer's Retail store in Haliburton. The new outlet will cover about 2,000 square feet, and is expected to be completed by November 15. The store will have a larger display and self-serve area, and more available space for supplies and a shop.

Ingoldsby residents pressing for boat launching facilities

Residents living in the Ingoldsby area are requesting that a boat launch and swimming area be established by the township near the hamlet.

Area residents have sent a petition to Anson, Hindon and Minden council suggesting that "a location is required in the Ingoldsby area" for a boat launch facility which would save boaters from having to launch their crafts in Haliburton. The letter suggested Pine Point on the lake as a possible location.

Council noted that many area residents have used the waters around the bridge in the hamlet for swimming, but the area was not widely used this summer.

Council decided to examine the situation further.

Scouting movement needs leaders movement in Haliburton Village as a result of the Beaver group, which got underway in May of 1977. Beavers meet Wednesday night from 7 to 8 p.m. Two Cub packs meet Monday and Tuesday, again from 7 to 8 p.m.

Two groups of Brownies meet Monday after school at Haliburton United Church and Victoria Street School.

Guides meet Wednesday nights from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the United Church.

Brownie age has recently been lowered to six, and a new group, Pathfinders, ages 12 through 15, is now included in the Scouting movement.

At present there are a number of girls interested in participating at this level but no leaders are available, the Group Committee said.

Over 60 Brownie age girls in Haliburton Village have indicated an interest in taking part in the program, but some have had to be turned away because of a lack of leaders, the Committee said.

West Guilford has no Guide or Brownie groups because there are at present no leaders. Minden has Brownies but no Guides, again because no leaders are available.

Persons interested in volunteering a few hours a month to help out in Scouting should call Dennis Baker (457-2875) or Ed Youngdale (457-2500). Those interested in Guiding should call Nada Vaughan (457-2718).

Some 150 children are registered in Scouting in the county, but others have had to be turned down. The Group Committee hopes that situation will change in the near future if enough volunteers can be found.

Galway Cavendish assumes two roads

At the most recent meeting of Galway/Cavendish council, the following matters were discussed.

The clerk was authorized to prepare a by-law to assume two roads into the township road system in Galway; one on the west-side of Clear Bay on Crystal Lake, on Concession 12, Lots 26, 27 and 28, approximately 3/4 of a mile, the other on the east-side of Clear Bay on Crystal Lake on Concession 12, Lots 27 and 28, approximately one and 5/10 of a mile, known as Clear Bay Drive. These roads have been maintained by the township for the last 12 years, but were never formally assumed into the township road system. This by-law is a formality only so that these roads will be added to the road system and thereby included in the calculation for subsidy from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

William Hill attended the meeting to discuss with council the stop work order placed on his property, regarding an enclosed deck and road, that he is in the process of erecting on his boathouse. Council informed Hill that the township solicitor was sending a letter regarding the encroachment of decks within the 70 feet of the high water mark, and that when this information was received he would be notified.

Douglas Morrison from Cambrian Planning Consultants attended the meeting and reviewed the draft results with regard to the Culture & Recreation Feasibility Study that was performed by his firm this summer.

The clerk was authorized to prepare an amending by-law to By-law 78-43 regarding the zoning of Keith Wheeler's property, Lot 9, South 1/2 Concession 4, Galway, to zone those portions of the said property that are suitable for a dwelling from "Hazard Land" to "Rural".

Severance B-106-79 (Douglas and Eleanor Strong), Concession 5, Lots 17 and 18, Cavendish, was approved as it conforms to the North Kawartha Official Plan and Zoning By-law 78-43. Approval is granted subject to a fee of $50 being paid to the township prior to the deed being stamped by the secretary of the Peterborough County Land Division Committee.

Severance B-145-79 (Douglas and Robert Lloyd), Concession 2, Part Lot 26, Cavendish, was also approved for the same reason and with the same condition, as was severance B-158-79 (Harold Echlin), Concession 3, Part Lot 24, Cavendish.

Indecent assault brings jail term

A man convicted of indecent assault and with perpetrating a bomb threat was sentenced to six months in jail when he appeared in Lindsay provincial court last week.

Charles David Shaw, 54, of Haliburton, was sentenced by Judge C. F. Inrig following conviction on an indecent assault charge in connection with an incident involving a 13-year old boy that took place in Haliburton, September 14.

Shaw was also found guilty of telephoning a bomb threat that forced temporary evacuation of the Haliburton Legion Hall last New Year's Eve.

Monmouth alots trap rights

At the September meeting of Monmouth Township council, the following matters were discussed:

General accounts of $36,851.04, road accounts of $9,115.60, O.H.R.P. voucher of $282.45, and welfare payroll of $1,676.54 were approved for payment.

The clerk was authorized to advise Ethel and Albert Saunders that the municipality is prepared to give the change room in Wilbermere Lake to them, and that if they do not wish to accept the change room, appropriate arrangements should be made to have it removed. A written reply was requested by September 30.

Property number 0900-2001600, tax registration number 78-2 will be sold to the estate of H. M. Dignam or H. M. Dignam corporation for the sum of $116.61, which represents the taxes, interest and costs to date, subject to the approval of the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs, council decided. If a survey is required, the costs are to be borne by the purchaser. The cost of registering the new deed is also to be borne by the purchaser.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to sign a release from the provisions of the subdivision agreement registered as instrument number 71172 for Lots 2 and 3, Registered Plan 543.

Council accepted the bid of Martin Drillers in the amount of $6,256 for reconstruction of part of the Clement Lake Road, subject to the approval of the Ministry of Transportation and Communication.

Council also decided to petition the MTC for the 1979 interim payment of subsidy on 1979 road expenditures to date.

A by-law to provide for the registration of dogs, the collection of a licence fee from the owners and for regulating the running of dogs at large in the Township of Monmouth was passed.

Laverne Lewis of Tory Hill was given permission to trap on the township dump property, Lot 24, Concession 10. Reg Schofield will be allowed to trap nuisance beavers on township property with the exception of the township dump property. Those rights were given to Frank Baumhour.

Council decided to request the Ontario Provincial Police to increase fines for liquor offences in the Township of Monmouth to be on a par with those in Minden Village.

A by-law to write off uncollectable taxes was passed.

plan will be offered to them as well.

The move was approved recently by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation, and approval from both public school teachers federations is pending.

Included on the newly formed body are director of education J. D. Hodgson, teachers Sid Cooper and Kathryn Pizey, and trustees Len Salvatori and Darryl Stamp.

Representatives from the elementary schools are also expected to sit on the committee.

Director of education, J. D. Hodgson said this week that no deadline for working out leave plan details has been set, but that major difficulties are not anticipated.

Correction

A story and editorial on the adoption of the planning strategy that appeared in last week's Echo may have left the impression that deputy reeves, who do not sit on the county's planning committee, were unaware of revisions made to the document. In fact, revisions agreed on in the meetings between the Ministry of Housing, the planners and the planning committee were circulated in written form to the deputy reeves approximately a week and a half before county council's September meeting. Council approved the document with the understanding that the agreed on changes would be included in the document in its final, revised form. But the final printed form of the document was not available to county council at the meeting at which the strategy was approved.

The reason why

Anson, Hindon and Minden council held a special meeting Monday to decide whether or not to send municipal road department employees back to work. The men were laid off September 26, at council's insistence, because the road department maintenance budget for the year had been overspent by some $40,000. Monday, apparently in a move to pave the way for further negotiations with the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, council voted to end the layoff. Crews will complete only manual labour jobs, however, while the department's machinery will not be put to use, at least for the moment.

Exact reasons for council's decision have not yet been made public, and may not be for some time. Whatever the reasons however (and the influence of Ministry officials cannot be discounted), ratepayers in the municipality are likely to be in agreement with council's decision.

From the outset, Reeve Sinc Nesbitt has claimed that continuing to spend more money on road maintenance than the budget called for would be unjustifiable. On that score the reeve and council are simply acknowledging the responsibility ratepayers placed on council's shoulders when they were voted into office. What has yet to be adequately answered, however, is why the municipality found itself in a situation in which it had spent $40,000 more on road maintenance by September than it had budgeted for a whole year's work.

The reeve has stated publicly that the maintenance subsidy from the Ministry is inadequate. He has also said that money which in other years might have been transferred from construction to maintenance was used for construction this year. Again, ratepayers are not likely to find fault with council for spending subsidized construction dollars on construction rather than on maintenance.

Little would be gained by dredging up mistakes of past councils if in fact mistakes were made. But a situation in which budgets are overspent and workers have to be laid off is serious one. Ratepayers deserve to know how it came about.

Council must move swiftly to implement controls to ensure that maintenance projects are given proper priority, and that construction money is used to put hard surfaces on as many miles of road as possible each year.

For the moment, work is being done, and the situation is proceeding in a direction that may lead to a solution. Whatever the outcome, however, ratepayers should demand a full accounting of what went wrong. It would clear the air both for the municipality's road workers, and for its council, neither of whom may prove to have been at fault in the end.

Make it valid

A survey of cottagers and permanent residents on a number of Haliburton County lakes was released this week by the Chamber of Commerce. Conducted on behalf of business associations in Haliburton and Minden this summer by two students working under an Experience '79 grant, the survey is an attempt to gather facts about the shopping habits, likes and dislikes of both groups. Questions asked on the survey were drafted with the approval of the associations in both communities, who presumably hope to make some use of the information the survey contains.

While the students who conducted the survey no doubt went about the task with enthusiasm, and did the best job they could with the materials at hand, the survey cannot be taken as a reliable indicator of any but the most general of trends and attitudes. It is the second year that such a survey has been conducted and it is the second year that the survey has contained the same weaknesses.

Only 174 cottagers and permanent residents were reached, not enough to form a valid statistical sample. The survey contains numerous vagueries. Under the heading of professional services, for example, it states that "a significant number" of permanent residents (only 28 were sampled) went out of town to find an insurance broker. Just what number is "significant" and to whom, is not answered. Similarly, the survey notes that "the majority of both cottagers and permanent residents purchased hardware and building supplies mostly in the county". The extent of "mostly" and the size of the "majority" would no doubt be of interest to retailers, but they are nowhere stated.

What should by now be obvious is that such surveys leave unanswered at least as many questions as they ask. Both formulating and carrying out surveys are difficult tasks that require a high degree of expertise. Unless they are properly structured and statistically valid, surveys are of little or no use.

If the Chamber and the business associations believe the results of a resident survey could be put to good use, they would be well advised to seek expert help in drafting and executing one.

Except for the fact that two students were given several weeks of employment this summer carrying out the survey, its value is questionable at best.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Regarding your editorial "Too much, too late", you report that over the last two years the cottagers of Minden Lake have had ample opportunity to lodge their objections; the first notice we received regarding rezoning was April of this year, when it was already cut and dried with Minden council. Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships are no different than any other governing bodies, they have little concern for the people who vote them in once they're in office, and go merrily planning and changing everyone's way of life to the township's benefit without sufficient notice. Summer people certainly pay a very large share of the tax dollars in the townships (every year an increase) and the only benefit we receive from our location on Minden Lake is the privilege of taking our garbage to the dump.

I was fortunate to have been born and lived a good many years in Haliburton County; many of my brothers and sisters have permanent homes and cottages in Minden and Stanhope. We do not object to more cottages, but let's not make it another Wasaga.

I find it laughable your statement "The unfortunate aspect of the situation is both time and money will be wasted", since when has this been a concern of any governing body once they are elected. People are not stupid, they see the constant waste of time and money by government from federal down to governing bodies as small as your council. As far as I'm concerned it can "Never be too much or too late".

Thankyou,
Ruth Richardson,

To the Editor:

It is regrettable that Mr. L. V. Clark takes issue out of context with constructive criticism issued on fact.

I endeavour to support and promote what is beneficial to the community. How else will those in public office know what citizens desire?

Yours truly,
G. C. Springer,
Haliburton, Ontario

To the Editor:

I have been reading your articles in the paper, the last two weeks in regard to Minden Minor Hockey and myself. First of all, I was on the executive when Mr. Sid Cooper from Haliburton came to a meeting requesting Minden Juveniles to play in Haliburton for the Juniors. There was a discussion but no deal was made then or after with Haliburton. You keep stating there was a deal and now Minden is backing out. If there was a deal between the two towns, I would like to know when and by who. You were at the open meeting, Thursday night, but you didn't state all the facts on the discussion about our Juveniles. We are now in "D" category, if we sent our boys to Haliburton, and they sent what the Juniors don't want to Minden, then we would have to go up to double D. With our best players gone this would reduce us to a house league team or more like an "E" category team. I'm quite sure if Minden asked Haliburton for its best Midget players to play for Minden Juveniles there would be one terrible uproar and rightly so. So when Haliburton tries the same thing with Minden it is bound to bring protests.

Minden is a good hockey town, and that's the way we would like to keep it. Joe Banks is the only one I know who seems to be upset. I have never heard a word from Haliburton Juniors one way or the other. I personally don't believe it is what Haliburton can do for the Minden boys, but what the boys can do for them. You also stated there was a dispute over me coaching this coming season. Every year that I have coached a team in Minden with the help of an excellent manager and trainer, we have always finished in first place and have a lot of trophies to prove it.

Our executive is new, but they are not stupid, and only time will tell. They are donating their time and effort for the children in the Minden Minor Hockey system, and I will support them any way I can. The resignation of members has nothing to do with the executive. So I would suggest to you in the future before you start to write a lot of bull, make a phone call and get the facts straight. But then, your job is to sell papers.

Taped to the wall in front of my typewriter is a yellowing piece of paper covered with drawings and words that just about sum up what it feels like to be sitting in front of my typewriter at this moment. They are from the comic strip "Shoe" which appears in the Toronto Star comic section every weekend. The strip's creator, Jeff MacNelly, knows what it's like to work for a newspaper.

One of the main characters, the 'perfesser' is seated on a wooden box in front of what appears to be a battered Underwood, the traditional favourite of reporters everywhere. "Good grief," he says. "I'm sitting here with a blank sheet of paper in the typewriter and 15 minutes to go to deadline." He decides he ought to come up with something scary, "some gloom and doom stuff", but he is stymied. He turns to his editor, "Shoe". "Quick," he says. "Think of a really scary situation." "Hmmm," says "Shoe" staring at his own typewriter for a moment. "Fifteen minutes to deadline and a blank sheet of paper in the typewriter."

It's a feeling that every reporter and editor knows. On a daily, it is felt almost constantly, but for me, it comes Tuesday afternoons when I must come up with the editorials and this column after

Any person who resides in Haliburton County and tells you that the economy here is in great shape are just one step away from the need to see a psychiatrist. I wonder just how long we are going to go along fooling ourselves, and this is just what we have been doing. If the economy was booming here we would have jobs for our young people who now have to leave home to seek work in other centres, we would not always have to be after the provincial or federal governments for assistance, and we would have fewer businesses going into bankruptcy. Some people will tell you that it was really a busy summer here and possibly this is the truth but how long is it going to take the majority of people to find out that we can't live in six weeks or two months' summer business if we are lucky. There is still ten more months in the year that we have to think about. What we really need is something that will employ more people who when they get paid, will spread their money around twelve months of the year and we will all benefit from this. Many local businessmen whom I have been talking with over the past week, tell me that they are starting to feel the pinch of this lazy economy that is with us here in this county while others tell us that we can look forward to a few bankruptcies before the end of the year. If we would all get a broader outlook on this matter and would strive to see a well balanced twelve month economy instead of two months we could solve many of our financial problems. As I have said in many of my columns in past issues of this paper I just hate people who spread gloom and doom and I still retain this thought. The time has come that we who live and try to make our livelihood in Haliburton County must face the fact that we can no longer go on living in this dream world of ours and start facing up to reality. Let's all of us make it a point now to try to help in any way we can in coming up with a solution to this most urgent problem. It's one that has been with us for some time now and will be with us in the future if we don't try to do something about it.

Ski-doo days are on at Prentice Roads Limited in Minden. To help celebrate the occasion they are holding open house this coming Saturday, Sunday and Monday, October 6, 7 and 8. This will be your opportunity to see the new 1980 ski-doo's and to see the Ski-doo water crossing demonstrations. The open house will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day. Large crowds are expected to be on hand for the entire three days.

From time to time I have mentioned the names of the Rotary exchange students who have left for a year's visit to another country or welcomed other exchange students to Haliburton County. There is one girl that I seemed to have missed and that's Lorraine Perry, a student from the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School who lives at Ingoldsby and who is now in her second month as an exchange student in Belgium. She left on August 18 as part of a program sponsored by Rotary International and the Rotary Club of Minden.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Elstone, Mr. and Mrs. George Elstone, all of Haliburton, spent a very enjoyable afternoon and evening on September 25 at the birthday party for Mrs. Ritzpah Elstone at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Burk on the occasion of Mrs. Elstone Sr.'s ninety-third birthday. Mrs. Ken Hardy of Minden and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Redfern of Calgary, Alberta, called in to congratulate their aunt on her birthday. Grandma as she is more often called, received many cards of good wishes. Congratulations were also extended to George and Pearl Elstone as it was their 44th wedding anniversary.

A vital part of emerging lay ministry is the annual men's conference at Geneva Park near Orillia, Friday, November 2 at 8:00 p.m. to Sunday, November 4 at 2:00 p.m. Last year about 103 men from about 20 parishes of the Diocese of Toronto attended. This year we understand that about 20 men will be going from the Parish of Haliburton and for the first time, a group of men from the United Church will be going. Dr. Desmond C. Hunt who is one of the foremost Bible teachers in the Anglican Church of Canada, will be the speaker and theme leader this year.

On Saturday night while watching television I thought that I was seeing things when CKVR in Barrie ran a commercial complete with Santa Claus sitting in a corner of a toy store in Orangeville, making his pitch to buy toys now for Christmas. It seems that it's never too early to advertise for Christmas.

This week I would like to add my congratulations to Mrs. Mary Oliver who celebrated her 90th birthday on Wednesday, September 26. Over sixty relatives and friends dropped in to wish her well at an open house which was held in her honour at her home at Hall's Lake. She is enjoying good health and has been a resident of Stanhope Township for over 60 years.

The Barry Moore Crusade is in full swing at the Minden arena and will continue right up to and including this Sunday night. This Saturday and Sunday, October 6 and 7 the crusade will move to the high school at Haliburton. If you haven't already attended the crusade, why not make it a point to at least take in one evening before it concludes this coming Sunday evening.

These next few lines of humour are enough to keep those who are afraid of flying at home with their feet glued to the ground. The story goes that a pilot on one of the major airlines would wait until the going got bumpy, then he would stroll through the cabin with a book under his arm. The title, which he kept prominently displayed, was "How to Fly in 20 Lesson".

Report from Queen's Park

by MPP John Eakins

We are, of course, all becoming increasingly concerned about the cost of energy in Ontario. Prime Minister Clark's agreement in Tokyo to permit massive increases in oil prices could cause us even more problems in this connection. Premier Davis has responded with some proposals of his own.

In August, he released a paper entitled "Oil Pricing and Security: A Policy Framework For Canada". Behind the bland title lurks some shocking news for Ontario residents. The document is based on the premise of a $5 increase in the price of crude oil, occurring almost immediately.

The document notes the detrimental effects of a $5 increase on the Ontario economy, and proposes the establishment of a fund, the National Energy and Employment Adjustment Program.

What would be the effect of a $5 increase on the ordinary consumer in Ontario? It would add $120 to the average home heating bill. It would add 16 to 25 cents per gallon at the gas pumps.

What would be the effect of a $5 increase on our economy as a whole?

According to the Conference Board of Canada, Ontario's economy is already extremely precarious without massive energy price hikes. A growth rate of 0.7 percent is predicted for Ontario in 1980, compared to 4.6 percent for Alberta. The jobless rate is expected to jump to 7.5 percent.

It is estimated that an increase of only $1 a barrel in oil costs would eliminate about 4,000 jobs in Ontario. According to a study undertaken by the Ontario Treasury in 1976, an increase of $2 would have significant negative effects and would damage the competitive position of fourteen major industries, accounting for 180,000 jobs. An increase of $5 a barrel would clearly throw our already faltering economy into a full scale recession.

Who gets the additional money from higher oil prices?

If the proceeds are divided in the current manner, most of the revenue goes to the oil companies and the producing provinces. A massive price increase would be necessary if the federal government is to obtain sufficient revenue to maintain a uniform price for oil across Canada.

Premier Davis has proposed that Alberta, the federal government and the petroleum industry keep their respective shares of the first $2 of his $5 increase and that the revenue from the remaining $3 be placed at the disposal of a National Energy and Employment Adjustment Program, which would then be used, amongst other things, to do some patchwork repairs on an Ontario economy which had been severely damaged by the $5 increase.

I hope to discuss this further in next week's column.

The Cottingham Court Willing Workers of Omamee has received a grant of $1010 to be used to organize a program of recreational activities for the residents of its apartment building. The program will include table games, shuffleboard, lawn darts, croquet and social events.

the news and sports stories are done.

There are long bouts of staring at a blank sheet. Often, sentences are begun and discarded, whole sheets pulled from the carriage in frustration and occasionally despair. By mid afternoon the floor is littered with crumpled newsprint, a testament to the battles with language and fact that are the essence of the job.

Sometimes, in the heat of the conflict between an intractable language and the pressure of putting out a newspaper, exigency overrules judgement. When that happens, it's easy to write something you'll later regret. That's why I try not to read the newspaper once it's committed to print. Knowing how it felt to write the words, I can't seem to read them with pleasure.

The fifteen minutes are up now, and this column must go to the typesetter. The struggle is over until next Tuesday, when the blank sheets that will become editorials and column will make their way into the carriage of the Underwood once again.

To tell the truth though, I kind of look forward to it. I guess that's why reporters and editors sometimes seem a little strange to people who've never sat in front of an Underwood with a newspaper waiting to be made at four o'clock on a Tuesday afternoon.

Me and the old lady had another wedding anniversary last week. Holey ole Moley, how the years fly by!

Usually, we remember our anniversary a week or ten days after it has gone by, and laugh about it. We don't believe much in anniversaries, as do some people who squabble all year, then go out to dinner with wine and roses, and are back pounding on each other within two days.

One year I actually remembered and brought home eighteen yellow roses. She fainted dead away with shock, and when she came to, gave me the devil for wasting all that money.

This year, I thought about it away back in August, and filed it away in my memory bank, determined to surprise her this year. Show her, by George, that there was some fire, or at least a few embers, underneath that wisp of smoke.

My first thought was to sneak off with her engagement ring and have it re-set in 24-carat gold. I had to dismiss this idea as impractical for two reasons. First, I'd have to remove her finger to get the ring to the jeweller. Secondly, the price of gold went up so fast it made my eyes water when I read the financial page.

Then I thought of a mink coat. But again there were two obstacles. One was the price of mink coats, which have soared almost as high as gold. The other was a conviction I've long held, that the only creature on this earth who needs a mink coat is a mink.

Well, I worked my way down through an emerald brooch, for her Irish ancestry, a pearl necklace, diamond earrings. It was all disappointing. I knew I'd be ripped off with emeralds, she likes gold necklaces, not pearl, and she's always losing one earring, like every other woman. What is as useless as one diamond earring? I'd kill her if she lost one.

That's one reason I got little done through August and part of September - worrying about the present for this one anniversary I would have remembered.

I considered giving her a new car. But I can't even afford one for the two of us, let alone one for her.

One, after another, I discarded, seemingly brilliant inspirations. I even went to the lengths of planning to sneak out in the middle of the night and painting the back stoop, which she'd been trying to get me to do all summer. But I shuddered at the thought of painting out there, all alone in the cold and dark.

Finally, it hit me like a thunderbolt, and a tidal wave of relief swept over me. I had it.

Something to suggest her Mother Earth qualities. Something in green and gold, her favourite colours. Something that would suggest her sweetness, juiciness, tenderness. Something she could get her teeth into, instead of junk like rings, necklaces, fur coats. Thirty-three cobs of corn!

With the decision made, I relaxed, and promptly forgot all about our anniversary.

She didn't, for once. On the fateful day, I arrived home from work, tossed out a few jollities, read her some interesting bits from the paper, asked what kind of day she'd had. All I got in return was cold shoulder and hot tongue.

She was in a bad mood. Not because I'd forgotten our anniversary. Just one of those rotten tempers women get into once in a while because they've had to deal with the plumber and TV repairman, the vacuum cleaner went on the blink, all the woodwork in the house is "filthy", and they've scrubbed the kitchen floor and have a sore back. In the old days, I used to pet her and pat her and promise her, and she'd gradually come around. But I gave that up years ago. It was too hard on me.

Nowadays, I fire right back: "What the hell's biting you? Cut out the self-pity. I work too, you know. Aw, go soak your head, crab." And so on. We usually have a good verbal set-to, sulk a little, and the rain is cleared. But this time she spared me, right in the middle of one of my finest perorations. "Did you know this was our anniversary?" Talk about hitting below the belt.

I was stricken with remorse, shame and guilt. No details, but we kissed and made up, and I did the dishes.

Must say we've weathered the storm pretty well. I was five years older than she when we were wed. I now look like an elder statesman at about sixty-five. She looks about thirty-four. My hair is white, hers is black. Her teeth are white, mine are black.

It's a little disconcerting when you go to a reception or some other function, the host reads your name-tag, and bumbles, "Well, Bill Smiley. I've heard of you. And you've brought your daughter along. How nice."

But I wouldn't trade the old battleaxe for a new one, even though she's laid a pretty good collection of scars on me, physically and otherwise.

TILL FURTHER NOTICE

From the Chamber

by Bob Stinson

Sir Sandford and the Tourist Industry
On Wednesday, October 17, at the Lindsay campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College, all those engaged in business related to the tourist industry are invited to attend a one-day workshop entitled simply "Your Future". The college, under the direction of Mr. Roy Polito, is anxious to work together with the industry throughout Victoria and Haliburton to find solutions to any problem areas that can be identified and explore what further role the college may have in assisting this industry. Representatives of both federal and provincial government agencies will be present and our members of parliament have been invited.

A special keynote speaker for this function is Anne Sargeant, the national sales manager for "Family Leisure World". This is the company that is presently building the one hundred million dollar recreation and tourist complex in Maple. They have done a lot of work in evaluating the tourist industry in Ontario and their plans will have a very definite direct and indirect effect on our area. This item alone on the agenda should make it worthwhile to attend.

There is no charge for this workshop but there is limited facilities so they have asked that those intending to attend, register by phoning the Chamber at 286-1760 before October 9. The session runs from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and lunch is available at the campus cafeteria.

We appreciate the college stepping forth to assist us in this way and sincerely hope that our members will show their appreciation by participating.

Cross Country Ski Facilities

When Ray Woodward decided to move south he left a bit of a vacuum in the cross country ski facilities when he also advised us that Woodland Ranch would not be carrying on with his endeavours in this sport. We are, however, pleased to report that the Haliburton Cross Country Club along with John Killarn of "Proud to be Travel Inc." have quickly taken up the cross country ski tour sanction and will now host that annual event on the trails that interconnect between Glebe Park and Lake Kashagawamog, on the weekend of February 23 and 24.

Pat Waddell at Haliburton Wildlife has also hastened to fill this vacuum by announcing this week that they will have more trails with better grooming for this purpose than ever before and that he has hired a professional instructor to help get the beginners started on track as well as oversee the grooming operations. The base camp also now boasts a beautiful chalet facility known as the "Boiler Room" for apres ski.

In addition to all this, of course, this winter we will once again have the inn at Sir Sam's open throughout the winter - and speaking of winter, don't forget the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association annual meeting at Minden Community Centre, Saturday, October 6 at 7:00 p.m.

COUNTY ECHO SPORTS

Eye on Sports

by Joe Banks

As you probably are aware, the OMHA and various local hockey bodies met this past weekend to discuss possible rule changes and methods to improve the level of hockey skills among young players. One of the major concerns was hockey violence, and its effect on the quality of the game.

The local Minden and Haliburton minor hockey bodies travelled to Toronto on the weekend, where much of the discussion centered around a proposed rule change to eliminate body contact from Atom and under. The proposal was turned down on a very close vote for reasons that are outlined in a story elsewhere on this page, but basically, the OMHA wants local associations to stress the working skills, not the hitting, and enforce current rules more effectively.

The suggestions are good ones, but they're general, and leave much up to the small town hockey associations. The OMHA should carry through on these tid-bits of advice by implementing province-wide assistance that would help local associations set up training programs and ensure that these suggestions are followed through. Quite often, smaller hockey bodies are too busy running their own league to concentrate on an effective program for skill improvement. Skill workshops were started by Ray Goulet in Haliburton during September, and proved to be a great success and benefited a large number of players. This type of program should be incorporated into the coaching system so boys 10 years old and under can get the proper skills training they need all season long. It is the OMHA that must first lead the way, and initiate what was discussed this past weekend...

...The ladies softball league had their turn at celebrating last Friday night when they held their annual dinner and awards banquet. This year, the Haliburton team was awarded the Wes Sawyer award for finishing first in the league at the end of regular season play and of course, West Guiford was awarded the trophy for being the play-off champions. Minden was awarded the trophy for being the play-off runners-up. Barry Shaw was the lucky winner of the trip to Bahamas draw - at a ladies dance yet!...

...And while on the subject of baseball, let's take a moment to think about those hard working Montreal Expos. The season, as you are no doubt aware, has expired for the team. But we've seen them inch their way up the standings this past year to a point where we couldn't believe they were the same group of players who started the season together. They played extremely solid and consistent ball during the latter half of the summer and fall, and succeeded in capturing the hearts and hopes of Canadian baseball and non-baseball fans from coast to coast. Larry Parish was named outstanding Expo of the year, and I was happy to hear that Bill 'Spaceman' Lee has signed a three-year contract with the team. Bill, who has one of the oddest senses of humour in the league, was heard to say of the new contract, "I'm very happy. Wouldn't you be if you got the money I'm getting?"...

...One final note, if you're 16 years of age and older, and want a night away from the wife/husband/sister/brother/dog/cat/television set and you like playing chess, then meet me at the Rails' End Station Gallery tomorrow night at 7 p.m. for a brief meeting. I'm trying to keep this group as informal as possible, and I hope that most of the players who show up will be able to donate the use of their boards. But whether you're a beginner or a master, the important thing is to attend. Your sanity may depend on it!...

Seniors remain unbeaten after two games

Redmen rout Fenelon - twice

If the Haliburton Redmen continue playing the way they have been lately, the Kawartha 'A' championship is a sure thing.

Last Tuesday, September 25, local high school football team snowed the Fenelon Falls squad by a score of 43 to 0, while the junior Redmen fared almost as well, taking out the junior Fenelon squad by a score of 23 to 7.

The scoring in the junior game opened in the first quarter when Terry Allore brought the ball in on a 16-yard run for the Redmen, and came up with a two-point conversion. Allore passed to Doug Tallman moments later and he carried the ball into the Fenelon end zone following a 25-yard pass and run play. Allore converted for the extra point.

That ended the scoring for the first half, and from there, the junior Redmen dominated play both offensively and defensively.

In the second half, the Redmen held the home team, and the third quarter, a single was scored by the Redmen as the result of a 30-yard punt by Mike Hatkoski. Fenelon Falls only marker came in the final quarter when Allore fumbled the ball following an offensive backfield miscue, resulting in a recovery by the opposition and a 70-yard run into the Redmen end-zone.

Following the opposition kick-off, however, the Redmen marched the ball down field well. Mark Prior, on a 50-yard reverse play, ran to the Fenelon six-yard line. Two plays later, Brett Moxam, fullback, carried the ball in, and Allore came up with the convert.

Outstanding offensive players in the game, according to coach Gary Brohman, included Allore and Tallman and outstanding defensive players were Mike Hatkoski and Rich Choy.

But the real shooting match came in the seniors game, where the Redmen completely dominated the match from the first quarter.

The first touchdown came when Butch Manery scored from the four-yard line after a long march by the Redmen following a fumble by Fenelon. Ed Roberts, on a pass and run play, came up with a two-point conversion.

Seniors win 43 to 0

Juniors win 23 to 7

In the second quarter, Hatkoski, also playing for the seniors, intercepted the ball, and set up the next play from Fenelon's 30-yard line. Shaun Chapman scored after he caught a 30-yard pass from Tim Davies, who later completed the single point conversion.

Also in the second, Steve Davies scored on a 10-yard off-tackle play, with Tim Davies succeeding with the two-point conversion. Butch Manery picked up his second touchdown of the game, following a fumble recovery by Ed Roberts on Fenelon's 35-yard line, and ran the ball in from the Fenelon six-yard line. Tim Davies kicked the single point conversion.

In the second half, the Redmen tried to keep the ball to the ground. Dave Pratt scored, however, on a 24-yard pass and run play from Tim Davies, and both squads simply traded the ball back and forth until the following quarter.

The final touchdown came in the fourth when Ron Yake intercepted the Fenelon Ball on Haliburton's 40-yard line. Two plays later, Dave Pratt, on a reverse, ran the ball into the Fenelon end-zone from mid-field. The score ended with the score 43 to 0 in the Redmen's favour.

Competitors in the trap shooting category of the Haliburton County Marksmen Club's Turkey Shoot register before trying their luck against the clay pigeons Sunday at the club's range north of Minden. A number of turkeys ready for Thanksgiving were up for grabs.

Shoot draws many marksmen Gary Bradamore dominates

An estimated 75 marksmen turned up at the Haliburton County Marksmen Club range near Minden, Sunday afternoon, in hopes of taking home a Thanksgiving turkey.

Club members and guests competed in trap shooting, pistol shooting, .22 calibre target shooting and a "gong" competition for high powered rifle, with turkeys being awarded to the best marksmen in each category.

The trap shoot produced the highest number of winners, with eight turkeys up for grabs.

Peter Deller of Hall's Lake was the top shooter in the category, taking home two birds when final scores had been tallied. Other winners in the trap shooting division included Heather Paul of Gravenhurst, Steve Wrightman of Hall's Lake, Gary Bradamore of Norland, Jim Schlosser of Minden as well as two German tourists, a Mr. Liffier and a Mr. Fluthwedel. The two were part of a group of ten visiting Germans who were staying at White Lake.

Club vice president Bill Payne said the group apparently saw signs advertising the turkey shoot and turned up to watch the action. With encouragement from others on hand and borrowed guns, three of the ten ended up taking home turkeys by the time the day's events were done.

In the pistol competition, Dave Shuyler of Blairhampton was the top shooter, winning a total of three turkeys. Other winners were Don Schlosser of Minden, Mike Vuksic of Haliburton, Gurd Warnke of Germany, Brian Anderson of Minden, Wayne Colman of Minden and Brent Colman, also of Minden.

In .22 rifle competition, winners were Chris Lodenquai of Minden, Jim Colman of Minden, Cliff Lacey, and Gary Bradamore of Norland.

Overall, Bradamore proved to be the best marksman of the day, and in the end he let others take home turkeys he might well have won if he had continued in competitions.

Along the Trails by Roy Bates

Some Thorns Some Roses

The past year has seen some remarkable advancements in the snowmobiling picture. Most notable improvements are in the area of snowmobiler acceptance and recognition, by other recreationists, by officialdom, and by the general public. But not every story is one of peaches and honey.

A year ago the land use planners of the Alberta government were fixing to ban all types of off-road vehicles from a very large sector of that province - the eastern slopes of the Rockies. I hesitate to suggest that I had anything to do with changing that plan but my long conversation with Alberta's chief land planner probably didn't hurt. The Alberta Snowmobile Association was finally successful in having snowmobiles excluded from the off-road vehicle restrictions. Recreational snowmobiling will continue on the eastern slopes.

A year ago in the United States a great deal of controversy had arisen regarding the use of snowmobiles in national parks, national forests and designated wilderness areas. An intensely strong lobby by environmentalists, conservationists and some other recreationists was calling for a complete ban of snowmobiling in these areas. Organized snowmobilers rallied to do battle with the result that the lines were held in all areas and substantial gains were made. New regulations issued by the U.S. National Park Service recognize snowmobiling as a viable form of transportation when snow cover interrupts normal vehicular access to a park.

Regarding possible damage to public lands by the use of off-road vehicles, both the U.S. Department of Defense and the Bureau of Land Management have stated that affected public lands will be closed only to the specific type of vehicle that is causing or will cause considerable adverse effects. In future the snowmobile will be judged on its own merits - not on the effects of other vehicles.

A new provincial regulation in British Columbia requiring that all operators of motor vehicles on forest roads be licensed was amended to exclude snowmobiles when used on unplowed and inactive forest roads. The amendment was brought about through the quick action of the British Columbia Snow Vehicles Association who saw the regulation as detrimental to family snowmobiling.

When a planned highway extension was about to cut off five recreational trails in the Annapolis Valley, the Snowmobilers Association of Nova Scotia met with highway officials and a special underpass will be built.

In our own province the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs and the Ontario Snowmobile Industry Association combined their efforts to attack the inadequacies of public trail funding. Their new concept, which is currently being studied by government, would be far more supportive of club efforts and would triple the dollar value of the present program. Unfortunately, the new policy, whether it goes through as proposed or comes out as a watered down version, will not be in place in time to meet the requirements of this season.

And now the thorns. At a time when public funding of public trails has fallen off (the loss of Canada Works and Young Canada Works grants this year will have disastrous effects), it becomes abundantly clear that the government's policy of free trails for all leaves much to be desired.

The rapid growth of the recreation of snowmobiling in this province in recent years should have been attended by similar growth in snowmobile clubs. That is not is largely due to that government policy. Why join a club when you can ride the club's trails for free? It's a question that I have given up trying to answer. If the Success stories listed above have not demonstrated the importance of snowmobiler organization then I don't have the answer.

Haliburton County has prided itself for the past two years on having the largest and most active snowmobile club in Ontario. If it is to retain that position it must have the support of the entire community. Show your support at the general meeting, October 6, 7:00 p.m. Minden arena auditorium.

Action at the Haliburton Highlands Squash Club got underway Saturday as league play resumed for a new season. Here John Peel, right, and Al Mahaffy square off.

Wednesday bowling scores

The following are the high scores from the Wednesday afternoon bowling league at Carnarvon Lanes.

Triples over 600 were bowled by Norma Hodgson with 215, Debbie Allin with 214, Ev Griffin with 207 and 204, Ray Knapp with 204 and Susan Titus with 200.

Redmen rout

Coach Brohman said after the game that because of Fenelon's very physical game, "penalties hurt them." The Redmen emerged from the game injury-free. Outstanding offensive players for the Redmen according to coach Brohman, were Tim Davies and Dave Pratt, while outstanding defensive players in the game were Ed Roberts and Steve Bishop, though Brohman added that "a strong effort" was put on by all members of the team.

The senior Redmen will play their next game against Lindsay Collegiate in Lindsay tomorrow (Thursday), and game time is set for 2:30.

Hockey violence main topic of discussions at meetings

Rule changes implemented

by Doug Mitchell

During the past week, the OMHA league and the Tri-County league have had organizational meetings with much of the discussion centering around hockey violence and improving the general level of hockey skills. Members of the Haliburton Minor Hockey Association executive attended both these meetings and would like to make a brief report on the discussions.

At the OMHA meeting held last Saturday in Toronto, much of the discussion centered around the proposed rule change to eliminate body contact from Atom and down. On a close vote, the proposal was turned down for the following reasons: (1) The best way to improve hockey skills is to improve working techniques that stress skating, puck handling and passing and not that eliminate body checking; (2) There are currently rules that penalize excessive violence and referees should enforce them more strictly; (3) Boys in smaller centres who might play both Atom and Pee Wee could get seriously hurt with rules for no contact in one division and no rules in the other.

The other major change at the OMHA meeting was that referees be paid from $7 to $10 depending on the age group being officiated in order to encourage more and better people to referee.

At the Tri-County meeting held in Omemee last Thursday, two major changes were passed.

Based on the philosophy that the Tri-County league was established to provide hockey for those players who do not have sufficient skills for the OMHA teams the changes are: (1) There will be no intentional body checking in all divisions from Juvenile to Novice. In this way the players will be encouraged to develop their skating and puck handling skills without fear of physical intimidation;

(2) An inspection committee will be established to ensure that players of superior skills are on the OMHA teams and not Tri-County. In this way the competitive level of hockey will be the same for each community and therefore more enjoyable.

There has been considerable concern shown for improving minor hockey in Ontario and eliminating unnecessary violence. Let's hope that this year sees a marked improvement in both areas.

Recreation committee meet

At a meeting of the Minden Recreation Committee last Thursday the following matters were considered:

Corporal Ron Foran and Constable Gary Chapman of the Minden O.P.P. attended the meeting to advise the members of the incidents which took place at the arena on Sunday, September 2, 1979. The O.P.P. are concerned for the safety of the force as well as the innocent people who could be involved in the event that serious outbreak should occur. There is no additional O.P.P. manpower available to staff the rock concerts, therefore they requested the concerts be cancelled. The question - "Who was in favour of holding the rock concert on October 7, 1979?" was voted on. In a recorded vote, S. Brandon, F. Mansfield, K. Bannon, L. McKnight and E. Burke all voted "nay". There were no "yes" votes.

Stu Brandon agreed to contact the promoter with the committee's decision. If a problem resulted he was directed to contact the township solicitor for a legal opinion on the matter.

Norm Harrison vacated the chair to attend other business and Vice Chairman Lyle McKnight assumed the position.

The committee acknowledged that the report was in order and agreed that the concessionaire was operating the booth satisfactorily.

The correspondence outlined on the agenda as items 4 to 8 inclusive and 10 to 13 inclusive was confirmed as read.

The committee accepted the financial report to July 31, 1979 as submitted by the secretary-treasurer.

The committee decided to recommend the council investigate the possibility of establishing a boat launching facility and swimming area in the vicinity of part of Lot 21 and 22, Concessions 2 and 3, Township of Minden or any other location in the Ingoldsby area which would prove suitable.

Norm Harrison declared an interest in the adjoining property and voted nay although he pointed out that he did not object to a boat launch etc. for Ingoldsby but objected to this particular location.

Non-smokers bowling starts

Bowling started Tuesday night for the Non-Smokers Bowling League with some pretty good scores bowled.

Ken Piper was the high man with 685 (244, 231); Bob Webb 671 (293, 222); Debra Harding 668 (271, 204); Eva Piper 664 (268, 221); Ron Robinson 649 (257, 243);

Shirley Webb 649 (244, 221); Gord Everall 645 (250, 201); Wes Stata 634 (244, 232); Ken Sawyer 604 (230, 204); Harold Harding had a 212 single.

The league needs some more non-smokers and they invite prospective players to come on out Tuesday nights at 9 p.m.

Marksmen competitions

In the high powered rifle competition, shooters tried to hit a gong at a distance of 100 metres. Bradamore had to shoot at the smaller of two gongs while others aimed at a larger one, but he still came up with three hits in three shots to take home another turkey. Also winning a bird in the event was Dave Robinson of Carnarvon.

In Junior .22 silhouette competition, Les Booth of Minden, Eric Milburn of Lochlin and Don Schlosser of Minden each won vouchers donated by local merchants.

Public address system for the event was loaned to the club by Rob Young, owner of Highlands Communications.

Classification shoots for club members will be held at the range for the next four Sundays, and on November 4, the Kinsmen Club of Minden are sponsoring another turkey shoot.

Hunting license fees will increase for this year

For the first time since 1970, fees for hunting licences will go up this year.

Increases range from $2 for groundhog and small game licences to $40 for non-resident deer hunters.

The fee for resident deer hunters is now $15, up $5. Farmer's deer licences are now $10, up $5. The fee for a resident moose licence will rise $5 to $20. Resident bear permits now will cost $10, up from $5.25. Small game licences for residents are now $5, up from the previous $3. Groundhog licences will also rise to $5 from $3. A dog-deer licence is now $5, up from $2, a dog-raccoon licence is also $5, up from $1, and a raccoon licence will now cost $5 instead of the previous $2.

The fee for a non-resident small game licence has been set at $40 this season, an increase of $5 over the old fee.

Non-resident deer hunters will pay $80 for their licence, double the former cost of $40. The fee for non-resident moose hunters is now $200, up from $175, and the fee for a non-resident seeking a bear licence has been set at $25, up from the former $15 rate.

Rare Earth seeks to reopen ghost mines

and bulkheads from the existing mine openings. The old workings and shafts will be pumped dry and ventilated, and the company can then carry out a resampling program of their own - a move that will once and for all determine the viability of bringing the sleeping mines back into production. In light of present day economics, the company ultimately will determine whether or not to give the project the go ahead.

Jeffs, an optimist, feels that "the existing data suggests a viable mining enterprise on a small to medium scale."

Roads are rough between the shaft and adit

Jeffs examines old diamond drilling cores

(small working openings) sites, but they can be negotiated easily in a four-wheel drive truck. Relics of mining activity from days gone by can be seen occasionally along the way. Tangled metal, razed shacks and piles of discarded materials loom out of the undergrowth. Walking down a road taken over by lichen and other ground cover, an adit or blocked raise would appear suddenly, and visions of a grave returned.

Five men are clearing bush around the first shaft in the Rare Earth properties off of the Haddington Road. They are preparing an opening, a site where the heartbeat of the anticipated operation will be located. Several trees have been cut down around the Rare Earth number two site. Something big is due to come here.

"Essentially, what the men are doing is providing a jumping in point," says Jeffs. For the past summer, the crew has been improving and clearing roads, and "cleaning up" the areas around the adits and raises. Here, they are preparing for a $1 million piece of machinery.

It's called a radiometric ore sorter, and it will separate bulk waste from valuable ore before shipping. The fine separating will be done in Madawaska near Bancroft, far from the ore's place of origin, and far from delicate lakes and wildlife characteristic of the area. Jeffs says emphatically that there will be no concentrated separation in the county, except of course, at Rare Earth number two, where minimal separation of waste rock and ore will take place. In its raw state, one to two pounds of uranium may be found in a ton of ore before separation.

Concern that uranium mining may damage the surrounding natural environment exists, and will continue to exist as long incidents such as Three Mile Island take place, says Jeff. The connection between the mining of uranium and its function in a nuclear power station is slight, Jeffs points out, because the ore is removed from a mine in the same form as it was found. It does not become significantly radio-active until it is finely separated and condensed with other materials to form the fuel pellets which power reactors. And that process is highly controlled. The luminous substance on a watch, in fact, contains and gives off more radiation than would exist in the air around the mine site, Jeffs says.

Transportation of the ore is a concern that appears at the top of the safeguard list. Rare Earth employees have already taken radiation readings along the sides of roads the trucks will be using. The information will be used to compare radiation levels in later years.

Despite the safeguards, despite the calming assuredness of the uranium miners, public concerns are expected to remain as strong as ever. But Jeffs is confident that safety standards can be met. With the huge number of controls all levels of government have applied to the mining companies, he says, it is unlikely that mining uranium could become dangerous.

Concerns about "scarring the countryside" before start-up would be unfounded, Jeffs says. No open cuts are planned by Rare Earth Resources. What openings there are in the ground are relatively small, Jeffs points out, adding that a person could pass within 40 feet of an adit or shaft and not see it.

Sulfur emissions, a by-product of the uranium refining process, will not be a problem at Rare Earth sites, says Jeffs, because the ore will be processed outside the county. In the wake of the government's stepped up surveillance of acidified lakes, controls on sulfur emissions are becoming the norm for new industries, Jeffs says.

Such controls are what now seal the way into the dark shafts at Rare Earth site number two. On the floor of the opening, rust-coloured swamp water stagnates. "Danger, keep out," a sign near the opening says. Barbed wire is tangled among the bushes and the rock, but Jeffs predicts that "hopefully" in another year, this area will be alive once again with the sound of miners. That's if all goes according to plan.

Once initiated, such a plan may provide the catalyst to spur similar companies to invest mining money into Cardiff and Monmouth Townships, and other parts of Haliburton County. According to Jeffs, establishing the exact amount of ore reserves Rare Earth Resources could have in the sites is difficult at the moment. In the longer term, however, based on current information, "I don't think we can look any further than five or six years," Jeffs says. The reserves, he indicates, could conceivably be exhausted by that time, and production could come to a halt. But because of the catalytic effect the company may have, economic advantages in the county, such as a larger tax base, job creation, and road improvement, could continue.

Foreman Jim Green, George Jeffs and consultant Harvey Brown

"Let's get away from the three properties (Rare Earth) in question," says Jeffs. "There are many prospects in this area." He points out that most of Monmouth and Cardiff Townships were "completely staked out" in the 1950's, and that many of these sites have not been examined for their potential. If all goes well, other mining sites such as Cam, Kerr Addison and Dolores Bench mines could be involved in Rare Earth expansion.

Present studies indicate about 12,000,000 pounds of U3O8 (uranium ore) in the property's orebody. The company expects to generate about 6,000 pounds of U3O8 weekly on a production tonnage of 3,000 tons per week.

But recent significant ore finds in Saskatchewan could throw a crowbar into the market for uranium, and unless the demand is sufficient to warrant major production by both mining companies, a glut is possible. But again, Jeffs, and Rare Earth Resources, remain unphased and optimistic.

Fluctuations (in the market) are bound to

Extendicare News

by Dr. W.O. Anderson

The week began Monday morning with Norman Titus digging the potatoes and these beautiful spuds attracted the attention of Mrs. Pat Burk who, together with Charlie Welch, picked them and filled two 50 lb. cardboard boxes with the most beautiful potatoes we have ever seen, some having a span of a full six inches. That will be 100 lbs. of starch to eat over the next few weeks. The next order will be the carrots, probably a few every day or so until they are all gone. The turnips will probably leave until spring. They are a good size. The radish were allowed to go to seed and presently represent a quart or two of seed pods. These look as though they may be edible and if there is some thrifty home-maker who knows of such a recipe we would be obliged if you would phone Mary Currah and tell her.

Many of our frozen flower plants have been pulled and buried by digging a hole nearby and chopping them in and covering them. Next spring the soil is enriched containing all the nutrients gathered by the plant's roots this year. If nothing else it still remains an interesting venture.

Monday afternoon a phone-in on Canada's T.V. network carried an invitation to comment on the need for a fall-safe "Official Secrets Act". All in all it was somewhat discouraging, because as it is there are no secrets and there is nothing to "classify", because all of this material went through the shredder days before, like the Liberals shredded everything before they left office. This "phone-in" was therefore simply redundant.

The Happy Gang are pleased to again welcome John Young as a member the second time, arriving Monday afternoon. He settled in right away, enjoying the Tuesday bing, always a very worthwhile event. It is now a pretty well hotly contested game with Mrs. Thelma Springer, Mrs. Betty Gibson, Mrs. Betty Wise, Mrs. Dorothy Iles, as helpers. Miss Karen Henderson skipped today but earlier reported 5600 boxes gathered and they are still coming at an ever increasing pace, soon to reach the five figures.

Bible study occupied us Wednesday morning led by the faithful Mrs. June Devolin. Another of the famous biblical stories was reviewed, the story of David and Goliath. This giant was nine feet tall and David was just a slip of a boy, but as a shepherd's helper, was used to single combat with deadly sheep predators. Goliath, with his massive armour and size, was sure of the outcome. But God was on David's side, making it a certainty that Goliath would be slain. Similarly we can have God on our side too when we sometimes encounter overwhelming problems. Thanks June for your interest in us.

We were pleased last week to see and read that timely letter from the principal as published in the Echo and to learn the educators of the present are making it be known that they are greatly concerned about what happens to the boy or girl after they have finished senior education. Whatever you do, take heed of your teachers. In the coming years you will at times be reminded of some item of learning they have taught you.

Another item of interest in the Echo this week was about the company in formation planned to make maple syrup. It has been said that the refuse from all the sawmills operating within a 15-mile radius of Haliburton and Minden, would if properly and efficiently used, heat all of the buildings in both villages. Just think if that could all be garnered, and then in shaving or sawdust form by blown into the fire box under the evaporators, no other fuel would be needed. Is there any possibility that in addition a maple sap line could be built from western Algonquin Park to this company? The odd thing of wood fuel here is that unless it can be finely divided, and will lend itself to blower stoking, it cannot compete with expensive Arab oil even at $50 per barrel. Although this is a wood country it is extremely expensive to produce.

Thursday afternoon we were bussed by Mrs. Pat Burk to mix with the senior citizens' club of Haliburton in the Dysart Community Centre for a pot luck dinner. There was a good crowd later verified at 110 including members and visitors. Our good friend and club president, Emil Niemann presided and Kenneth Stewart said grace. After the dinner the president made the various club announcements, indicated the birthdays, arranged the next dinner outlined various coming events, including Extendicare's offer to the members to join us on the bus trip when we go to Queen's Park as the guest of John Eakins, M.P.P. for Victoria-Haliburton. So it seems some of us will meet again soon. The coming "Happy Gang's" "Mexican Fiesta" for October 4 was also given due coverage. It was a nice meeting and thanks.

The Rev. Trevor Denny guided us spiritually in the Friday morning devotions using his amazing baritone to lead the singing of the old favourite spirituals. In his message his theme was "You are the people of God" meaning that God knows our every quality, and knows whether we put that quality to good service to mankind. It was very nice chatting with Rev. Trevor at our after-service chat over tea, coffee and cookies served to us by Mrs. Pat Burk and the Reverend himself, possibly a token emphasis of his wider service to the people of Haliburton and community.

There were several movies in the afternoon and in each one the title conveys any needed comment: 1. Horse power, a scene of logging in the Tory Hill, Wilberforce bush; 2. Labrador hospital, a splendid medical service to that area, ongoing and greatly expanding; 3. Cook Islands, sea islands in proximity to New Zealand, of the Micronesia group. Mostly it showed "hula".

A man or woman is not working if they are engaged in doing that which they prefer.

Let me try, please! The wrapt expression of this youngster's face turned into a smile when he was given a chance to try out a puppet following a puppet show at the Dysart Library, Saturday.

Bishop visits St. Andrews Church, play presented by local children

On Monday, September 24, Anglican bishop, Allan Read, came to St. Andrew's Church, West Guilford, his arrival hailed by the music of bagpipes.

Rector Trevor Denny, led the congregation in the evening service of Compline. This turned out to be a song and story time, with an entertaining telling of the story of Daniel by the bishop.

A play which the children of the community had prepared was then presented. Its manager was Ian Cooper with his brother, Jaro, as prince. Wayne Rivers was stage boy and his sisters, Pam and Michelle were first lady and princess, respectively. Nora Morrison added her beauty in the part of second lady. Her brother, Gerald, and Michael Chumbley provided the singing parts, and Marsha Bain appeared as a rose. Andy Cooper completed the cast, taking the role of the emperor. The audience-congregation appreciated the natural flair of the young actors. Special guests were Canon Moore Smith and his wife Violet, of Wilberforce and the Rev. David Barker.

A happy time of visiting over lunch provided a further opportunity for the congregation to enjoy the Bishop's company. All look forward with anticipation to the Bishop's next visit.

We began the week with the fun and fitness program, on Monday morning. Several people turned out to do their exercises to music and participate in a game of kick the ball.

Later in the afternoon, the ladies went to the craft room as usual to work on their projects. We were very pleased when Bishop Read of the Anglican Church dropped in for a visit. He was very interested in the different items that the ladies were making and he shared with us his good humour and experiences. We all certainly enjoyed his visit and look forward to seeing him again when he is in the area.

Tuesday morning, Rev. Don Nicholson of the Haliburton United Church, was here to lead the service in the chapel. Mr. Fred Ballard accompanied us on the organ while we sang our praise to God.

Tuesday afternoon is movie time at Hyland Crest. This week we viewed two very good films. The first one called "The Living Mountains" took us on a tour from the Carribean through the Andes Mountains. We saw numerous varieties of beautiful flowers. We saw how the humming birds pollinate the flowers in the Carribean, and how there are only a half dozen species of birds which can adapt to the weather conditions in the mountains. The buffalo, baboon and elephants which were filmed at Mount Kenya, were particularly interesting to watch. This was a very colourful picture, showing us the beauty of the mountains in a different part of the world.

"The Living Savanna" showed us how man began to go into the open plains about 80 years ago and are dependent upon nature as are the animals.

There is an abundance of grass, therefore many species of animals exist there.

We saw the zebra, water buffalo, elephants, lion and ostrich in their natural habitat. Every creature depends on the abundance of grass growing on the plains. This is big game country, where it is kill or be killed. This was an exceptionally good film and all who watched commented on how much they enjoyed their afternoon watching the movies.

It was just a gorgeous day on Wednesday, so we decided to take advantage of it after the fun and fitness program. We boarded the bus for a nice drive to look at the beautiful colours. Haliburton County is always so beautiful at this time of year and this year is no exception. We went first to Pikes Peak overlooking Minden. The view was breathtaking. Some of our residents said that they have lived here in this area for many years but this was the first time they had ever been to Pikes Peak.

We continued on up Highway 35 to Buttermilk Falls taking in the beautiful scenery all the way. We were invited by Lloyd and Evelyn Coleman to come into their quaint little log home for a cup of tea and goodies. I'm sure Mrs. Coleman must have been busy baking all week preparing the delicious assortment of fruit bread and cookies. We had a lovely visit with Mr. and Mrs. Coleman, who are very warm people. They made us all feel right at home and we certainly appreciate their kind hospitality. Their log home is original and I'm sure that it must have brought back some fond memories, to our residents. We got back on the bus and made our way home, getting back just in time for supper. Everyone who went said how much they enjoyed their afternoon, and said it was the best trip yet.

While we were away, Mrs. Florence Robb, who is one of our dedicated volunteers, came and took some of the residents who were unable to go on the bus for an afternoon walk.

The ladies of the Kinmount Baptist Church made our Thursday afternoon tea party a very delightful time. This was our special birthday tea party, when we celebrate all the birthdays in September. Our guests of honour were Mrs. Isabella Eastman, Mrs. Elizabeth Smethurst, Mrs. Martha Kernohan and Mr. Frank Billings. Each was presented with a lovely corsage made up of fresh gladioli. The ladies brought with them a beautifully decorated birthday cake, which was in the shape of a bible. We joined together and sang happy birthday to these people and wished them many more happy years.

We would like to thank the ladies for the lunch consisting of an assortment of sand-

Wilberforce News

The welcome mat is out for Miss Janet Barker who has been living for the past year in Arizona. Janet, who grew up in this community, enjoyed a busy, happy life in the States but is pleased to exchange it all for a cooler climate and home surroundings. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Barnes are happy to have their daughter home again and it is to be hoped that she will linger in the village for some time.

The fine weather we have enjoyed has been a boon to local fairs and other outdoor events that take place at this time of the year. For the first time in about 34 years the Lindsay Fair had not one day of rain to spoil their annual celebration. Sunny days were also of benefit to the cross country bikers who gathered at the Wilberforce Legion Hall for a hearty meal of chili, salad plate, home-made pie and other goodies during their recent trek through the country. Over the years the Legion has become a popular stop-over for refreshments by the bike club. These pleasant young people come from such far away places as Nova Scotia, Quebec, the States, Mexico, etc. They have come to rely on the satisfying service provided by the wives of the Legion members.

Summer temperatures are lingering. We are mesmerized by the warmth of the days and glorious profusion of scarlet leaves. It is a precious time of year and winter seems distant. However, it is time to plan ahead and discuss events that will be taking place when the snow flies. The hard-working executive of the curling club would like you to attend the general meeting being held on Thursday, October 11. They hope to see all members and others who are interested in this fine winter sport. There will be a couple of films to get you in the mood and schedule for the week's activities will be drawn up. So come out and help with the planning. See you at the curling rink.

Coming up on Thursday evening, October 4, is a turkey bingo sponsored by the South Algonquin Kinsmen Club. This will be held at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre and gets underway at 8:00 p.m. Here is your chance to win a Thanksgiving turkey and have a pleasant evening with your friends and neighbours.

We are looking forward to a big weekend in Wilberforce on October 6 when the annual Oktoberfest takes place. All the action will be in the arena. Opening with a craft sale at 10:00 a.m. then a smorgasbord and entertainment provided by an Oompah Band.

The evening dance begins at nine with music again by the Oompah Band. Come out and enjoy the fun.

Black and white photographs can't actually depict the beauty that fall in Haliburton County is known for, but this was one of the many picturesque and very colorful panoramas seen in the Highlands last week. The shot was taken at a pond near Haliburton Village.

Norland Notebook

by Barbara Maunder

September 22 marked the third anniversary of my writing the Norland Notebook column for the Haliburton County Echo. I have kept all of my news clippings and have them pasted in a large scrap book. It is quite interesting to look back through three years of Norland happenings and read about them. There has really been quite a bit of activity and many changes.

Due to the wedding dance of Phillip Bryant and Laura Middleton on Saturday, October 13, the Norland Athletic Club Hockey Association has cancelled its dance planned for that evening. The group trusts that this has not inconvenienced anyone and hope to arrange another date in the near future.

September seems to be a popular month for people to travel and this year is no exception. We welcome back Roy and Rotha Bryant who left just after Labour Day and travelled west by camper truck to British Columbia where they visited Roy's brother in Blue River near Kamloops and then crossed over to Vancouver Island where they spent several days seeing the local points of interest there. Enroute they enjoyed good weather and met and visited with friends and others who knew people from this part of Ontario. Vern and Phyllis LeCraw had a wonderful trip to England, Scotland and Holland arriving home last weekend. They especially will remember their trip to Holland where Vern renewed acquaintances with people whom he had met and been billeted with during the Second World War while he was stationed there in the artillery corps. He has kept in touch with one man over the years and arranged to meet him in Mepeel, Holland. He was most hospitable and kind to the LeCraws and as they departed, presented them with two silver spoons as mementos of their visit.

I, too, have had a four-day holiday this past week when I travelled with TravelWays Tours on a bus trip to Lake Placid, New York, and Stowe, Vermont. Never having seen the coloured leaves in the Adirondacks at this time of year, I was overwhelmed by the beauty of them. Even without the fall colouring, it is very lovely and scenic country. At Lake Placid we viewed the new Olympic stadium-arena where the champion skaters from all over the world will be vying for honours in February, saw the very high and steep hill from which the skiers will be competitively jumping and the 4500 foot white face mountain where the slalom and downhill skiing will take place during the Winter Olympics. Lake Placid is a very popular and interesting town and small enough that accommodation for the Olympics is at a premium. We heard that some of the local people were renting out their apartments over stores and getting the unheard price of $6000 for the month of February. The nearest other large place convenient to commute from is Montreal about 90 miles away.

After leaving Lake Placid on our second day, we crossed Lake Champlain by ferry and arrived in the State of Vermont where we again enjoyed the lovely fall foliage and picturesque countryside arriving in Stowe that evening. The next day was spent at the Shelburne Museum where there are 35 buildings on 45 acres of ground. The museum has an American collection of quilts, textiles, glass, ceramics, dolls, toys, pewter, furniture and other decorative elements. Many structures were moved to Shelburne. There are six furnished "period" houses, a country inn, a lighthouse from the middle of Lake Champlain, a one-room school house, a brick meeting house and the only remaining footpath in Vermont. We also saw shoemakers' and harness makers' shops, a barber shop, an apothecary, doctors' offices, a one room jail and the 900 ton paddle wheeler, Ticonderoga that was moved from Lake Champlain to the museum site overland involving many months of labor and clever engineering. Aboard the side-wheeler a 15 minute film showed just how this accomplishment was completed - truly amazing!

Before leaving for home on the fourth day, we drove by the Trapp Family Lodge (Sound of Music) which is situated near Stowe and has a panoramic view of the valley and the mountains in that part of the country. The trip was educational, the weather warm and sunny, and the tour group friendly and pleasant - a most enjoyable holiday!

Norland bowling league standings as of September 26: team of Rotha Bryant and Mike McAllister - 16 points; Wanda Landry - 15 points; Michelle Angiers - 11 points; Harry Smith - 10 points; Trent Watson - 7 points; Jim Boyce and Peter Purcell - 4 points. Ladies high single, triple and average - Wanda Landry - 248, 521, 173. Men's high single - Bruce Brown - 303; high triple and average - Les Thomas - 656 and 218.

Last call for the bargains at Norland Opportunity Shop on Saturday, October 6 from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. The shop will close for the season on this date and everything will be on sale at half price. There is still a good selection of fall

There will be a few less ducks around on Saturday, but a blue heron never fails to come to Mirror Lake this time of year. The scenery is getting more beautiful every day.

Although we did not get to

Mrs. Mary Oliver's birthday party, she had a good many callers, afternoon and evening. It was such a lovely day that the festivities were held outside. No one, looking at Mary, would believe that she had reached the age of 90.

There was a surprise for Mrs. Arch McKay that day on the occasion of her 80th birthday. Her daughter, Grace Renouf, had invited her to lunch, and, when she arrived, found several of her neighbours and relatives there. No one deserves a surprise more than Rease, who is mailman for our street and looks after our plants in the winter.

Mrs. Lew Tomkins has her sister from California paying her a visit.

It was a great shock to learn Saturday morning that Les Hannivan of Victoria Road died suddenly late Friday night. Les is the brother of Norman Hannivan, Vern Hannivan and Betty Moore who live here and son of Elizabeth Hannivan who is in Case Manor. Our deep sympathy to the family.

Congratulations to our neighbours, Fanny and Sanford Richman who celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on October 1.

Kay Reid was hostess for a bridal shower for Ruth Ann Ferguson, Thursday night, who will marry Peter Brohm of Miners Bay next month.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Peirce who were married last Saturday.

Susan Peel becomes Mrs. Ballard in a marriage ceremony today. Susan has been honoured at a number of showers, one put on by Rose Rocchio, one by her sister-in-law in Whitby, by her Toronto friends and her Fenelon Falls friends. Congratulations to the newlyweds.

John Grozelle remains in serious condition in Sunnybrook hospital following his car-train accident.

Norma Suter remains in Toronto General Hospital and Gwen Faulkner and wife of John Faulkner is still a patient in Princess Margaret Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Farrow visited his aunt, Mrs. Chas. Farrow at Canington.

Our best wishes and congratulations to Peter Barbour who was recently ordained as a minister of the gospel. Peter is the son of Bob and Stella Barbour, (our local I.G.A. manager) and has been ministering at Simcoe, Ontario. Our congratulations to Rev. Peter Barbour, who can now marry, bury and counsel those in need.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Faulkner and grandchildren visited Gwen, their daughter-in-law, who was out of hospital for the weekend, at the home of Fred and Yvonne Brecht in Scarborough.

Night classes are now in progress at Fenelon Falls and Lindsay where you can learn anything from typing to carpentry and modern dancing.

Once again we have some frosty nights and lovely summer-like days. Wednesday evening, as I drove to Peterborough, the eastern sky was a beautiful sight with rainbow-like colours. Coming home later, we watched the new moon sink on the western horizon and remarked on the beautiful sunset and such gorgeous weather for late September.

Daughter Heather and husby Clint Hirstwood, return home tonight from a visit to Calgary and other points of interest in Alberta. Their brief holiday was even shorter for Clinton. The night before their planned departure, just before he finished work, he was handed a folded white paper. He was summoned to appear in court on the Monday morning as a witness. Needless to say, he was very upset. Heather flew out on schedule Saturday evening while Clint remained in the city, made his court appearance on Monday, then took a Monday afternoon flight. However, his seven-day holiday became five days and he certainly was most unhappy!

If you are looking to go into business for yourself, the laundromat is up for sale! Just drop into the real estate office and make a deal.

The duck hunters were out bright and early this morning. I do not go duck hunting but I was up shortly after four a.m. to cook breakfast for some hunters.

The Patti House dining room will be open until the end of October. Then our Chinese friends will close down for another season. So if you enjoy Chinese food, drop in soon, ere it's too late!

If you are young parents, you may be busy taking your kids off for power skating at a nearby arena. While sports - and hockey - are great, one wonders how some of these kids stay awake the next morning at school, when some must travel such distances to go to an arena.

Someone cut openings in our fence and provided a way out for an animal that we spent an hour rounding up!

"Somewhere in Canada there has to be a factory that does nothing but manufacture square wheels for grocery carts."

To start the new season the Brownies, Guides, Pathfinders and Rangers enjoyed a camp-out weekend. The Guides, Pathfinders and Rangers camped locally over Saturday night, and in spite of the frost a couple of hardy Rangers braved the rigors of sleeping in a tent although the rest of the group were ensconced in a building. On Sunday morning they enjoyed breakfast cooked over a lovely open fire outdoors. Then they welcomed the Brownies who had hiked in over a distance of one kilometer, studying the leaves, ferns, mushrooms, etc., along the way. They developed a good appetite from their hike and among other things they enjoyed the weiners toasted over the open fire for their lunch. The weather cooperated beautifully with sunshine all the way and they are all looking forward to the next time they can enjoy the outdoors in this way again.

We wish to congratulate Mel and Barb Berry on becoming the parents of a baby girl. The Berrys live in St. Catharines where the baby was born weighing seven pounds, two ounces. Barb is the daughter of Doris and Chuck Keown of Dorset.

We send best wishes for success to Suzann Greenaway in her new enterprise. Suzann has opened up a new craft gallery at 229 Queen W. in Toronto and will be displaying and having for sale various craft items from some of Canada's leading craftspeople. The opening was on September 14 and her parents, Lorne and Jean Greenaway and other members of the family went down for the occasion. Apparently, there was a huge crowd at the opening and Suzann was overwhelmed. She has so many unique and beautiful things on display that it would be worth a visit if you are in Toronto.

Millie and Murray McEachern have just returned from a trip by air to Nanaimo, B.C. While there they visited with Charles and Helen White and Dr. and Mrs. Bill Stuart. They enjoyed a fishing trip on a private yacht into Gervis Inlet and other areas, catching and eating some beautiful salmon, and they had sunshine every day. What a beautiful holiday.

Stanhope notes

by Alex Stevenson

We are indebted to Mr. Wilbur Eaton of the Sherwood Forest Property Owners Association for the following facts, which we pass on for the information of the friends and neighbours of the late Cecil and Jean Irwin. Mr. and Mrs. Irwin were long time residents of Haliburton and the Carnarvon area where they operated the well-known and prestigious Sherwood Forest Boys Camp at Beech River and Boshkung Lake from 1933 till 1967. Due to failing health, the Irwins subdivided the property into cottage lots and eventually the cottagers formed the Sherwood Forest Property Owners Association and assumed responsibility for the park area. The association members held Cecil and Jean Irwin in the highest esteem and as a memorial to them, have constructed a rustic log shelter at the edge of the camp playing field, suitably identified by an inscribed plaque. This memorial will be dedicated at a short service on Thanksgiving Monday, October 8, 1979, at 11:30 a.m. Residents of the area and friends of the Irwin family are invited to attend. We would add that there will no doubt, be a number of former camp members who will take advantage of this opportunity to pay their respects to Mr. and Mrs. Irwin. We hope that nature will put on her best fall display for this occasion since both Cecil and Jean loved Stanhope and nature's gifts.

A new truck complete with accessories for winter service has been added to the township's equipment inventory and can be counted on to expand the already satisfactory service on roads. The recreation committee has made arrangements for the installation of a base for an outdoor skating rink and it is expected to get underway in the near future.

The ice surface will be smaller than in previous years and it is hoped that the elements will be more cooperative this winter than during the past two years when there was constant frustration for those attempting to maintain a skating surface. Recent provincial statistics show Stanhope with a population of a surprising 870 people. Of this number the same statistics show that 37 percent are over the age of 50 years, while 21 percent are between the ages of 31 and 50 years. The number between the first to the 17th years of age total 215, a figure which surprised us.

Farm News and Views

The end of September marks the conclusion of the pasture season for cattle for another year.

The most important crop in many parts of Ontario including Victoria and Haliburton Counties, is grass. The majority of this grass is harvested by cattle grazing it during the summer months, and converting the grass into beef and milk.

The lush grass growth of May, June and July produces optimum growth in young cattle, and optimum milk production from cows.

By August, the quality of the pasture is changing, and numerous tests have shown that rate of grain and milk production is cut in half during that month. This reduction in production continues through September.

By October first, the pasture quality is reduced to the point that livestock barely hold their own, and are actually losing weight during late October and early November.

Thus, starting on October first, farmers need to start providing supplementary feed to their cattle if they stay on pasture. Hay is the feed usually provided, and the amount required will increase during October and into November.

Several farmers in this area have cut some of their surplus pasture in mid-June, putting it up as hay in large round bales, and leaving them in the pasture field for the cattle to eat now.

Don't lose any of the good grains your young cattle have already made, or the ability of your cows to milk well, by under-feeding them with pasture only this fall.

Guild News

by Carole McLean

Somewhat like the turtle that won the race...news of the artisans in Haliburton County is spreading, thanks to inventive people like Keith and Donna Stephenson of the Haliburton Highlands Golf Club.

This past weekend saw the conclusion of months of preparations as Keith and Donna sponsored a golf tournament here in Haliburton County, drawing people from different parts of the province. The golf club as well as our beautiful fall colours, provided a perfect setting for their first annual tournament, and as an added attraction the tournament also boasted a variety of gifts and prizes made by local craftspeople. The display was impressive and the reaction of the participants enthusiastic, leaving a general feeling that the tournament was indeed a success, and they would definitely be back again next year. Thank you, Keith and Donna, for furthering the knowledge of Haliburton County and its craftspeople.

Evening of Chamber Music
The Lake Ontario Regional Library is providing an evening of Chamber music. A Trio Ensemble will provide an enjoyable evening of music, October 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Rialto End Gallery. This is a free concert so please plan to attend.

Weaving Group
Strange odours emanated from steaming pots and buckets as handfulls of berries, goldenrod, marigolds and parsley were added to the boiling water. Thus began the one-day workshop in natural dying that took place at the home of Donna VanderWekken on Tuesday, September 18. Each participant (there were six in all), then submitted a piece of wool to the different pots of natural dye, then into a variety of mordants, which set the colour, observing each in succession. All in all it was a most enlightening day and was enjoyed by all.

Ceramics Workshop

A group of 14 students gathered in the pottery studio at Lakeview School to partake in a weekend workshop, under the instruction of Rodger Kerslake, well-known artist and teacher. Mr. Kerslake has participated in a number of exhibitions and is represented in collections nationally and internationally. He is currently head of the ceramics faculty at Georgian College.

Of the 14 students present only two were from Haliburton, Marie Blair and Gloria Carnochan. In talking with Gloria, I received a brief outline of the techniques and activities that took place at Mr. Kerslake's workshop. All types of enclosed containers, tea port, and a variety of spouts, lids and handles, also bowl forms with emphasis on trimmed feet, were demonstrated. All in all Gloria assured me it was a most enjoyable and informative workshop.

Dysart council holds regular meeting

At their regular meeting September 10, Dysart et al council considered the following matters:

The quotation of $2,621.50 by Haliburton Lumber, to supply pressure treated lumber for Head Lake Park was accepted. Murray Fearrey refrained from discussion of the matter.

Eric Oettel was advised that council has no objection to the proposed dredging on part of Lot 1, Concession XII, Havelock Township, provided approval is issued by the Ministry of Natural Resources.

A Certificate of Occupancy was issued by Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Gordon.

By-law No. 79-40, a by-law to reaffirm the wording of By-law No. 79-11, was passed.

Council concurred with objections 1 to 11 and items 2, 3 and 5 of objection #28 to By-law No. 79-36. Council does not support the balance of the objections.

The municipality will offer the following lands for sale: (1) Block A, Plan 394, Dysart; (2) Lot 1 and Block A, Plan 395, Harburn; (3) Block A, Plan 438, Dysart; (4) Block A, Plan 525, Dysart. Highest offer or any offer will not necessarily be accepted, council decided.

Council concurred with the plan of Paul Daigle in principal, re: trailer park.

The application for an Official Plan Amendment by

C. W. Darrell will be returned to the applicant for further information, council decided.

Council will meet again October 7.

Ken Bell reported for the games committee that the club now has a carpet and balls for carpet bowling and a crockinole board and dartboard have been ordered. A shuffleboard is also scheduled to be installed in the spring.

Gordon Barr was chairman for the election of officers for the coming year. Elected were: president, Ivan Hunter; first vice-president, Mary

Trent /Severn News

Water Control
On September 24, the storage remaining in the northern reservoir lakes was 49.1 percent. This was a drop of about 5 percent from 54.2 percent last week. The intervening time this year with evaporation from all the lakes in the Trent watershed averaging about 2.5 cm. (1") over the week.

Construction and repair work are now being planned and has started in some areas. Flows from Hawk Lake will be shut off October 1 to 5 to aid in the Haliburton County bridge repairs. For this reason, a higher flow is being run this week, September 25 to 30, so that a more even distribution of the water will result next week. Residents on Twelve Mile and Horseshoe Lakes will probably notice a rise this week followed by a drop the following week.

In other areas, normal water control procedures for this time of year are continuing.

Supply Orders the Clue: Fall Maintenance Season Gets Underway

The Central Stores staff of the Trent-Severn Waterway have a good indication that the fall is coming. Area maintenance managers and construction foremen turn up with trucks for supplies with increasing frequency, and those supplies are for the repairs scheduled for the fall and winter. Tons of cables, structural steel, lumber, bolts, fittings, cement and nails, pull out of the yard on the backs of waterway flatbed trailers or pickups, destined for work sites along the system.

For the stores personnel, it is a change in the supply business. The summer are busy periods for stocking lockstations with the necessities of life - everything from fire extinguishers to soap to permits. The rest of the year sees a run on the construction inventory - a host of stores items from rock bolts to hydraulic lubricants.

The Trent-Severn Waterway also supplies stores inventories to the Rideau Canal, and to Fort Wellington National Historic Park in Prescott, but for stores personnel, these are minor tasks compared to the supply job along the 240 mile Trent-Severn corridor.

Haliburton Highlights

by Creighton Feir

In speaking with some local people this week it was their opinion that the Tourist Information Centre which is located near the Rails' End Gallery at Haliburton should be kept open all year round, not for just two months in the summer. Sounds like a great idea.

Parents who have children attending the Victoria Street School in Haliburton were invited to the school on Tuesday evening to meet the teachers, look at some of the children's work and to have a general tour of the school. A large number of parents turned out for the evening.

We have noticed many chartered buses in the village during the past two weeks, with people taking the opportunity of seeing the Highlands and the leaves in all of their brilliant colours. Unless we get a great deal of rain and wind they could be at their best this weekend.

The Haliburton laundromat, formerly owned and operated by Richard Biagi, is now the property of Sid Cooper, the owner of the West Guilford Coin Laundry. It will be closed for approximately two weeks for repairs.

There is some action at the former Dominion Department Store on the main street and we will have more on this a little later on. It would appear that new tenants are moving in.

The Banks brothers are holding a reunion this coming Thanksgiving holiday weekend at the Banks' residence on Pine Street in Haliburton. The Banks brothers and their relatives will be coming here from as far away as Quebec, Nova Scotia, Toronto and of course, Haliburton.

Brian Devlin was the guest speaker at the Rotary Club of Haliburton when they held their weekly meeting at the Haliburton United Church last Thursday evening. Brian, who is from the Fenelon Falls Rotary Club, gave a very interesting slide presentation and talk on the 75th anniversary Rotary project - The Health, Hunger and Humanitarian Program. This is the single largest program ever undertaken by Rotary International.

On October 23 the well-known accordionists, Dixie Dean, will be at the Evangelical Fellowship's annual banquet at the Haliburton Legion. At the age of 13, Dixie started accordion lessons. At the age of 14 he was a professional accordionist with a daily radio program. Until he was 35 years of age he performed with the CBC, CFRB and many other private radio stations, plus composing and performing background music for the National Film Board. At the age of 35 he entered T.B.C. (now O.B.C.) with his wife, Myra, in 1954. Upon graduation in 1957, they left for language school in Costa Rica, arriving in Quito, Ecuador, in 1958 and returning to Canada in 1964. From 1964 to 1968 he was Canadian Director of the mission, resigning at that time to become principal of the Ontario Conservatory of Music. During this period he remained on the Canadian Board of Directors of HCJB and on October 1st of 1977 was reappointed as Canadian Director of the Voice of the Andes, HCJB.

We look forward to hearing this outstanding Christian musician.

Tickets should be procured as soon as possible.

Increased benefits announced

Increases in the Old Age Security pension, guaranteed income supplement and spouse's allowance, effective in October 1979, have been announced by Heward Graffey, Minister of State for Social Programs.

The basic Old Age Security pension will rise to $179.02 from the present $174.82.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a single person, or a married person whose spouse is not a pensioner and is not receiving a Spouse's Allowance, will increase to $146.97 from its current $143.53. Added to the basic pension, this gives a person receiving both the OAS and the maximum GIS a monthly total of $325.99.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a married couple, both pensioners, will increase to $122.10 each from $119.34. Added to the basic pension this will give each married pensioner receiving the maximum GIS a total of $301.22, or $602.44 for the couple.

The Guaranteed Income Supplement is paid to pensioners whose income, apart from the Old Age Security pension, is limited. The amount of the supplement varies in relation to income.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance will increase to $301.22 from $294.16. The maximum Spouse's Allowance is made up of an amount equivalent to the basic Old Age Security pension and the maximum GIS at the married rate and is paid to persons between 60 and 65 years of age who are married to OAS pensioners and meet residence requirements. Entitlement to a Spouse's Allowance, and the amount paid, is based on yearly income.

Old Age Security pension and Guaranteed Income Supplement payments are increased quarterly based on the cost of living.

32. IN MEMORIAM

DEAN - In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Nellie Dean, who passed away October 6, 1978.

She was someone to count on, whatever the day
Someone to talk to when dreams go astray
Someone to turn to when troubles appear,
Someone to cherish and hold very dear.
Someone we could love one day to another
And be very proud of our wonderful mother.

Forever loved and missed by Walter, Vera, Lorna and Bill.

But will never be forgotten.

32. IN MEMORIAM

But to all there comes a moment
When the ways of life divide.
Though her smile is gone forever
And her hand I cannot touch
She gave me years of happiness.

The one I loved so much,
God saw her getting tired
When a cure was not to be
So He closed His arms around you
And whispered, come to me.
You did not deserve what you went through
And so he gave you rest
God's garden must be beautiful.

He only takes the best.
May the winds of love blow softly
On the quiet, peaceful, halloved spot
Where the one I love is sleeping
And never will be forgot.
God has her in His keeping
And I have her in my heart.

Ever loved, husband Maurice

32-P-3

EMMERSON - In loving memory of my dear mother, Edith, who passed away suddenly October 7, 1978.

Two tired eyes are sleeping
Two willing hands are still
For one who suffered far too much
Is resting in God's will.
You never said goodbye to me
But, perhaps it's just as well
I never could have said goodbye,
To one I loved so well.

Forever loved, your daughter Melissa.

Autumn Fest

This past weekend was indeed a glorious one for colour throughout our county and we sincerely hope we have arranged to have most of the colour, plus a bit more held over for Thanksgiving weekend coming up. This is the last big weekend before we turn our thoughts to first hunting season, and then the winter season, and it is shaping up to be a busy, busy holiday.

Chamber Annual

Since our recent newsletter, orders are coming in fast for advertising and annual meeting tickets. We have on occasion run out of tickets to this big event, so make sure you have yours before we run out. Call the Chamber or a director in your neighbourhood - the date is October 10 at the Stanhope Firefighters Hall. See you there!

An open and shut case for heating your home with wood.

Considering the cost of oil, gas and electric heat these days, it's easy to see why hundreds of thousands of homeowners across North America have turned to wood heating.

It's more economical (it can trim 50% or more off your heating bill). Wood smells and sounds as good as it burns. And it's one form of energy that's still growing.

But what do you burn wood in to get the most heat out of it? We'd like to suggest a Fisher Stove.

The Fisher's unique two-step combustion chamber recirculates wood gases back into the flames, resulting in more heat and fewer ashes. Its patented spin draft controls and virtually airtight construction mean you can regulate how much heat it puts out. And because it's made from carefully welded, heavy plate steel, it will give you years of remarkable heating efficiency.

We have a variety of Fisher Stove models to choose from. So come in soon and find out what makes a Fisher a Fisher. Case closed.
